CONGRESSIONAL LEADERS TO BEGIN NEW ADMINISTRATION WHILE HOOVER IS IN SOUTH

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Congressional leaders are planning to begin Herbert Hoover's administration December 3 while he is in South America instead of waiting for his inauguration March 4. They are making arrangements to start action immediately on many of the points the president-elect drove home in his presidential campaign.

Moderate farm relief, tariff revision for the protection of agriculture, legislation to curb use of injunctions in labor disputes, and a prospective law to limit unemployment—all are included in the program which is being worked out for the opening of congress. Hoover's congressional friends do not expect that the lot can be disposed of in the brief three months' session but they are determined to set the ball rolling on each of the issues mentioned so they will not have to start from scratch when Hoover comes in.

Leadership in the move is being undertaken by the prominent in the Hoover campaign—Senator Borah, leading republican campaign orator; Vice President-elect Charles E. Curtis, senate floor leader; Senator Brookhart of Iowa who campaigned in the farm belt; Senator Watson of Indiana, and others.

effects the welfare of all our families, its character building agencies have their influence on every growing boy and girl in this community. We should, therefore, make the community chest campaign a festival of sharing and of doing the fine things for those less fortunate that is necessary to keep our community a fine place in which to live and rear our children. Let every worker in the community chest be a salesman rather than a collector of funds. Let us spread a better understanding of the value of the community chest and the work of the agencies participating in the chest by taking time and thought in our solicitation work. If we do this there will be no question about the success of the raising of the $51,630.

Report luncheons will be held at St. Ann's Inn each day during the week. Each day the service club meeting on that day will join with the chest workers at luncheon.

He held other offices occasionally, but he mined and prospected all over the territory, where everybody knows him. in slack times is ready in the senate and will be placed in a leading place on the official republican program.

There is some dissension in the ranks over what would be done about the tariff and farm relief proposals. Borah and Brookhart want the house, which has little to do at the start, to get to work on a tariff revision plan. They want the ways and means committee to prepare now a bill which will be ready when Hoover calls an extra session of congress at his inauguration, a step they expect Hoover to take. Others want to hold off until Hoover calls a special session.

Some of the leaders want to rush through a revised and fee-less McNary-Haughen bill which would be about the thing Hoover has outlined as his co-operative marketing program. Borah wants to wait so that a new co-operative bill can be framed for action in the special session. He would have work on this bill be begun immediately in the house.

DR. HARDING PASSES AWAY IN SANTA ANA

ern California, as had been the custom of the deceased for a few years past.

Dr. Harding was stricken at the home of J. M. DeVaul, a veteran, at Garden Grove, to which place he had been accompanied by H. E. Francisco and S. L. Carpenter.

Dr. Harding was a member of the pension board at Marion, and friends of DeVaul had appealed to the physician for his assistance in getting an increase in the pension of the Garden Grove man. Dr. Harding was engaged in taking data on the war service of DeVaul when he had the seizure that resulted in his death early this morning. Dr. Harding, Francisco and Carpenter had called at the home of John Parker, West Fifth street, prior to calling at the home of DeVaul. The visit at the Parker home also was for the purpose of getting information that might aid Dr. Harding in efforts to secure an increase in Parker's pension.

Dr. Harding first came into prominence when his son was nominated by the Republican party for president in 1920. He was born in Morrow county, Ohio, June 12, 1844, and was the only son of a family of nine children. Dr. Harding often told of the Harding genealogy, which, he said, could be traced back 1300 years.

He was born in a log house built by his grandfather, George Tyson Harding, who platted the village of Blooming Grove, now known as Corsick.

Dr. Harding bore the name of his great grandfather, Governor Tyrone, of Massachusetts. It was while attending district of subscription school, as the schools were known in those days, that he met Phoebe Dickerson who later became his wife.

After subscription school Dr. Harding entered Iberia college and later at the age of 16, began teaching school at Mount Gilead, O.

After teaching school he entered Ontario academy, then returned to Delaware, O., where he enlisted in Company C, 98th Ohio volunteer infantry. That was in 1862 at the outbreak of the Civil war.

He became ill and was sent home, but later re-enlisted in Company 1, 156th Ohio infantry. Just before he left the second time, he procured a marriage license and was secretly wed to Miss Dickerson at Gallon, O., on May 7, 1864.

Three months after his second enlistment, Dr. Harding was stricken with typhoid fever and fearing he would die, he told his comrades of his marriage.

Mrs. Harding died in 1909, but to the union were born Warren and six other children.

Dr. Harding received a certificate from the Northwestern Medical society, Toledo, in 1870 and later enrolled in the Cleveland Homeopathic college from which he was graduated.

He went to Marion, O., and later erected an office building which was occupied on the first floor by the Marion Star, Warren's newspaper.

His son's nomination and election subsequently brought the aged physician into prominence throughout the country.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Intellect, energy and courage have rightly been hailed as creative qualities—but they came to man from God.
As you develop skill in using the tools He puts into your hands you may become proficient and powerful. There never comes an hour when you can be at your best apart from Him.
If your mind is perplexed, if your strength seems insufficient, if your heart quails and your will fails—go back to Him. Listen for His voice, drink in His strength, and you will win.

SOUTHLAND POLICE SEEK MISSING MAN

Officers of Orange and other Southern California cities today were attempting to locate Frank Pressit, 43, who disappeared yesterday from his home at 330 North Shafer street, Orange.

Pressit attended church in Orange, yesterday, and was taken to his home by his brother-in-law, C. P. Randolph. Upon reaching home he told his wife that he was going to visit his brother, who lives at the rear of the Pressit home. He did not go to the home of the brother and has not been seen by relatives since he left his home.

Pressit last week suffered a severe attack of flu and whether he wandered away from home in a moment of mental aberration or deliberately planned his disappearance is a mystery.

Pressit was employed by the California Wire company.

REPORT LARGE DEATH FIGURE FOR INDUSTRY

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Special to The Register)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 17.—"The best safety device is a careful man."

This saying is as true today as when it was first advocated, said Will J. French, director of the state department of industrial relations, at the fifth Pacific Coast Safety Conference here.

California is paying for her place in industry at the rate of two deaths a day and more than 250,000 industrial accidents a year, French declared. Harmony among the various agencies at work in accident prevention is the only way of cutting down this alarming toll, he said.

"The state can point the way in requiring definite safety standards to be put into operation," French said. "Inspection of places of employment needs to follow, for standards will not enforce themselves. There are employers, just as there are employees, who need the watchful eye of authority."

Superintendents have a splendid opportunity for safety work, according to the speaker. If the front office instructs the superintendent and foreman in safety requirements, and sees that they are observed, the rank and file of working men will come to realize that their welfare is an integral part of the business operations.

"California must be made safe for the industrial worker," he continued. "Shop committees, suggestion boxes, plans for participation in life-saving methods by apprentices, journeymen, foremen, and employers—these all come under the purview of the training which has the human mind as a starting point."

"California never will be entirely safe for its workers, because faulty equipment will occasionally pass the best tests and the keenest eyes, and the brain and physical functions will not always work in perfect union."

"But it can be said that grim determination to win, well-guarded places of employment, the application of mind and body, and the clapping of hands by state, counties and cities in the safety movement, will see the dawn of the day which will be the death of the preventable accident."

'NATURALS' ON KFI PROGRAM FOR TONIGHT

KFI has two "naturals" to present to its radio public tonight, so fans be ready to turn the dial to KFI at 6:30 p. m., and keep them there until after 9 o'clock.

Giovanni Martinelli, Italian operatic tenor, will start his KFI vocal program at 6:30 and the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra will go on the air from the same station at 9 o'clock.

Martinelli is to appear on the first of a regular Monday night series of General Motors radio parties and tonight will be assisted by a full concert orchestra. Martinelli's first public appearance was 18 years ago and since that time he has risen to be one of the foremost operatic tenors in the world. Martinelli, it is said, has something that a majority of broadcasters lack—radio personality.

Mildred Marsh, concert pianist, will be the soloist for the Philharmonic, which will be on the air tonight in the first of a series of 10 broadcasts.

uses a cup of SUGAR in boiling ham

A famous cook gives his recipe

A MAN, famous among his friends for his fine cooking, was asked the secret of his delicious boiled ham. He gave this simple recipe: Put a cupful of sugar in the water that boils an average size ham. Also one-half cup of vinegar. Try this and see how much it improves the taste and flavor of the ham.

Every good cook knows that there is no substitute for sugar in improving the enjoyment of other foods. Whether in preparing fresh vegetables, fruits or meats, sugar is the secret of successful cookery.

Sweetness is nature's perfect flavor. It is also the cheapest nutriment that you can buy. Health comes from eating good foods, flavored to please the taste. Beware of extreme reducing diets. They are dangerous. Eminent medical authorities warn us that permanent injury often results from starvation diets.

Be sure that you and your children are properly nourished. Eat enough of varied foods, sweetened for enjoyment. The Sugar Institute.

NONSENSE AND THEN SOME ON KFI TOMORROW

Cincinnati vs. Pennsylvanidelphia!

That's the "Football Foolishness" special broadcast to come out of the San Francisco studio of the National Broadcasting company tomorrow night from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. KFI will rebroadcast.

Perfesser Herman Schnitzel will be the "mike" and will give a play-by-play description of his now famous "Big Game" of the air.

Last year Cincinnati was the victor, but that was attributed largely to the fact that Coach Smith, of Pennsylvanidelphia, neglected to shave off his whiskers. He assures the public that this mistake will not be made again.

While the Cincinnati team is slightly underweight, averaging only 331 pounds as against 403 last season, Coach Emil Reifschneider believes that a strict diet of sauerkraut and liverwurst maintained up to and including the day of the game will remedy this disadvantage. Reifschneider believes that his inauguration of wooden shoes this season has been of tremendous advantage in winning previous games.

On the other hand, Coach Smith firmly believes in his method of cough drop training and points out that with his custard pie formation, working in plum pudding order, there is practically no chance of his lighter and faster team getting mixed up over which goal line they are attempting to cross. He believes also that his scheme of sending his men into winter quarters directly after the game will have much to do with the ultimate result. This has been true of other circuses, he adds. Pennsylvanidelphia's weight this season is 113 pounds, f.o.b. Milpitas.

Capt. Milt Smith, of Pennsylvanidelphia, said: "We have this year given up the huddle system of signal calling and will go into a cramp."

DISTANCE FANS MAY GET 'ROMEO, JULIET'

"Romeo and Juliet," another of the old favorites, will be on the air Wednesday night, but the only coast fans who will be able to listen in are those who like to "fool around" with distance, as the program will cover only stations KWK, St. Louis, and KYW, Chicago. The program will start at 7 p. m., coast time. KYW has a clear channel, so that should help some.

POPULAR RADIO STAR SINGS WAY TO FAME

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—"The youngster has a lusty pair of lungs," said a doctor in Lake Benton, Minn., not so many years ago.

"She might turn out to be an opera star," and the doctor slapped his fellow physician, Dr. William Wakefield, on the back in huge good nature.

Some six years later a little girl was washing dishes in her mother's kitchen when, without warning, a platter fell from her hands and crashed to the floor.

To avoid detection, the little girl started to sing at the top of her voice, drowning out the crashing platter, its noise, confusion and visions of a quite probable spanking.

If there had been a noted opera singer nearby and he had heard the childish voice and recognized its possibilities, the story would be quite complete, but there wasn't—no one but a neighbor who remarked to Mrs. Wakefield that it wasn't natural for little girls to sing so heartily while washing dishes. So Mrs. Wakefield investigated and found the broken platter.

Singer From Start History doesn't record anything about the spanking—if there was one—but the episode proved to the little girl, who is Miss Ethel Wakefield, known to thousands of radio fans as one of the National Broadcasting company's light opera and solo stars, that she was destined to be a singer.

The next thing Miss Wakefield remembers was gathering a group of her schoolmates together and making up tunes.

"We composed a whole opera," she says in telling about it, "and believe it or not the opera was good. We have it in a barn at 10 pins admission and I don't know how many pins were collected but there were a lot of children present."

Long before she took up the study of algebra and first year Latin, the little Miss Wakefield was close under the leader of every roving brass band that came to Lake Benton. And when a minstrel troupe with a "rag-time" band hit the little inland village, Miss Wakefield left the dishes and other chores and dashed right to the place where the band was.

So her family finally found out that she was musical and, while Dr. Wakefield couldn't conceive of a stage career for his daughter, he consented that she be sent to Boston so that her craving for music could be gratified.

Father Congenial Soul The doctor was one of those congenial souls who thought nothing of getting up at 3 in the morning, hitching up by lantern light and driving 30 miles through mud, sleet, rain, hail or snow to relieve the sufferings of a fellow human being. Sometimes he'd allow Miss Ethel to accompany him. The two would sing together as old Nell plowed through the Minnesota slush.

"Those are never to be forgotten times," says Miss Wakefield, "and I've never been happier. Since then I've faced tremendous audiences in all parts of the United States, but I don't think I've ever experienced greater thrills than I did while singing with dear old Dad in that old phaeton."

"Mother decided that I'd make a first rate kindergarten teacher and father was rather inclined to agree with her. But I didn't like making green dragons out of tissue paper or maps out of paper mache. I wanted to sing. So when my parents told me I could go to Boston to study, I was about as happy as a whole colony of meadow larks."

A few years later a big shock came to the Wakefield family in Lake Benton. Word reached them that their daughter had not only become a member of the Boston Opera company, but was actually one of its leading singers.

Family Name Saved! This was a pretty hard blow to a physician who had carefully built up a reputation through many years, so he hustled to Boston to find out about it. And when he had heard the opera and had noted that Ethel didn't appear in pink tights, he went back to Lake Benton and told the neighbors he was proud of Ethel.

Concert tours followed and Ethel Wakefield became one of the best known singers in the country. In the meantime, however, she kept on studying and when radio started springing into popularity she was not only perfect in French, Italian and German, but knew the operas.

It was only a step into the air. Radio wanted just such a gifted person, so WYON in Chicago claimed her. For three years she sang there—a pioneer radio artist.

From Chicago to San Francisco Miss Wakefield came to join the National Broadcasting company's Pacific Coast staff. In a few months Miss Wakefield has endeared herself to thousands of western listeners.

MANY NOTABLES ATTEND EVENT: COST $50,000

BUENA PARK, Nov. 19.—Completed at a cost of approximately $50,000, Buena Park's new Congregational community church was dedicated yesterday with impressive services in which prominent churchmen and laymen of Southern California took part.

Three services were held during the day and the sum of $4000 was donated by those attending the services.

The morning sermon was preached by Dr. E. P. Hyland, president of the Los Angeles Federation of Churches, who had as the topic of his sermon, "The Larger Parish." Dr. Henry K. Booth, of the First Congregational church, Long Beach, spoke on "The Indispensable Church." Dr. Benjamin S. Haywood, pastor of the White Temple Methodist church, Anaheim, gave an address on "The Relation of the Church to Business Values."

Greetings from the Southern California Congregational Conference were extended by the Rev. Perry G. Schrock, of Santa Ana, moderator of the conference. "Paul's Conception of the Christian Ministry" was explained in a forceful address given by the Dr. James Hoffman Batten, director of the regional service at Pomona college.

"Old Times" was the subject of the talk given by the Rev. S. F. Hilgenfeld, of Fullerton, a former pastor of the church. A letter was read from the Rev. Charles L. Knight, former pastor of the church, who was unable to attend but sent greetings in this way.

Other talks were given by C. L. McComber, prominent rancher of Buena Park, who added a $500 donation to the $1000 he and Mrs. McComber had already made to the church fund, William Schumacher, chairman of the Orange county board of supervisors, who also gave $500 to the fund. C. C. Chapman, of Fullerton, spoke on "The Church as a Divine Institution." Chapman made a donation of $200 toward the dedication donations.

Fred Bastardy, who has played an active part in making the new church possible, and who is the superintendent of the Sunday school, spoke briefly on the place of the church in the heart of the community.

Music was furnished by the Silver Tone quartet, well known radio singers, of Anaheim; Miss Margaret Dyer, of Los Angeles, contralto soloist and the daughter of a former pastor; Mrs. Henline Denham, of Bakersfield, and by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Burton Y. Neal. Other solos were given by Miss Florence Warren, of Buena Park; Mrs. Garrison Costar, director of the choir, and Stanley Berkey sang duets.

The vows of dedication were read by the pastor and the answers were given by the congregation. Dahlias from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. George Trapp were used in profusion in the decorations. The organist, Mrs. L. L. Stowe, played one of her own compositions after playing the postlude.

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 19.—The first fine to be assessed by the city as a penalty for failure to clean up unsightly condition and fire menaces was levied here this week. Louis DeKay, oil operator and owner of several leases was fined $200 by Judge W. A. Leonard.

DeKay was given notice some time ago by Fire Chief Frank Crocker to clean up the premises near his oil wells. The sentence passed by the court also included a demand that DeKay take immediate steps to clean up his property and if he fails, a charge of contempt of court probably will be lodged against him.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Knute Rockne says his Notre Dame beat the Army because they played better than they know how. And that the ball game, can do only one thing—jump in the air and catch a ball. . . . But he can run the 100-yard hurdles in 15 seconds. . . . Jimmy De Forest says Dempsey is in pretty good shape. . . . And that his arms are as fast as ever if his legs are slow. . . . Pop Starg's Chicago team is "born with dis-sension." . . . They say. . . . The Glasgow, the Iowa back, is the greatest back in the country cutting off tackles. . . . And Myles McLain is so slow he blocks his own men in interference. . . . But he's good for three yards any time he gets the call.

KEEP 'EM IN THE OPEN

Ohio State still uses the huddle system in organizing its next movement, but it is a huddle of different formation than is used anywhere else in the country. Instead of gathering around in a circle with their arms about each other's shoulders and their heads together, the Ohio State players line compactly up in three parallel rows. It doesn't seem to have all the advantages of the orthodox huddle, but has one advantage that, according to one of the Ohio players, caused it to be adopted. It keeps the boys out in the open. In one of the games last year, according to the story, the boys were in a bunch, heads together and arms around each other, and they were quarreling violently. And one of the players asked a teammate right on the jaw and no one outside the little huddle knew anything about it until some time later.

IT IS WORTH, JUDGE!

"Howdy" Harpster, quarter back on the Carnegie Tech team, can do everything well that a great quarterback is supposed to do, and he will be one of the ranking candidates for the All-America team. Before the season was well under way, Judge Walter P. Steffen, who coaches the Tech team when he is not sitting on the bench in Chicago, was asked about Harpster. "Harpster is a very good player," he said, "and he probably will be looked upon as extra good by you fellows because you only look to winning teams for star players. It looks as if he will have a good team this year, and our men will get some attention. He has had good ball players ever since I have been coaching at Carnegie. Perhaps I have had better players than I have this year. But none of my players ever got the slightest attention from the All-America pickers until we beat Notre Dame or had an unusually good team. The system of selecting All-America players is all wrong."

HE MADE SOME GENTLEMEN

It is possible that Dr. Jack Wilk will retire from football at the end of the 1928 season. His career at Ohio State was not a happy one. Only his courage kept him from quitting last winter when the alumni was shouting for his skin. His faults as a coach were that he didn't win all his games, that he was a "Sunday school guy," and that he had a sign up in the dressing room: "Fight—But Be Gentleman." A few days ago one of the men who led the fight against Wilk— and who refused to jump over when State looked like a champion this year—said to the writer: "I criticized his football only. He'll leave a lot of good on the campus that we won't realize until he is gone."

Dr. Jones did at Yale and so did Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. Because you never have heard of any team that didn't want to play Notre Dame, Yale or Ohio State again.

SAINTS WIN FROM PASADENA, 24 TO 6

Dons Defeated In Closing Game Of Season

FULLERTON COLLEGE TAKES BEST END OF 20-6 SCORE; PASADENA TEAM CHAMPION

By JIMMIE ROACH

Any hopes that Santa Ana junior college football supporters may have had for a championship team this season were blown to pieces Saturday when the Fullerton Yellow Jackets smothered the Don eleven, 20 to 6, at Fullerton. As events proved, defeat meant no difference because Pasadena easily defeated Long Beach and clinched the championship of the Western division of the Southern California J. C. conference and will meet the winner of the Eastern division for the right on Thanksgiving day.

COUNTAINS WIN BEHIND HALL'S GOOD PITCHING

Behind the brilliant hurling of "Rube" Hall, the Orange County baseball club trimmed the Standard Gas team, 4 to 0, in a winter league affair at the Orange County Fair grounds yesterday. Hall limited the visitors to two bingles, struck out six, and was never in trouble.

The fielding of Charley Dorman, "Red" Robertson and Ed Bryan, Orange county outfielders, featured although some long distance clouting by Art Sullivan's maces pleased the fans also. Layne crashed a homer over the center field wall in the fourth and Robertson poled a long one over the left field fence in the eighth. Bryan, the Seattle, Coast league player, hit safely three times out of four.

The same clubs mingle at the Fair grounds next Sunday. The box score:

FLUOR, CURRY WIN COUNTRY CLUB GOLF

J. S. (Si) Fluor Jr., and R. V. Curry were Class A winners and C. P. Boyer, M. Rosson and E. D. Christensen were Class B champions in week-end golfing competition at the Santa Ana Country club. Fluor, two down, won in match play against Pat Saturday. J. K. McDonald, four down, was second and A. B. Watson, five down, third. In Class B, Boyer was followed by W. R. Talbert, four down, and Clyde Walker, M. B. Wellington, W. H. Spurgeon and Judge E. J. Marks, all five down.

R. V. Curry shot 82-72 in Class A medal play Sunday. R. E. Graves, 83-74-74, was second and L. D. Coffing, 85-75-75, third. Rosson and Christensen, winners in Class B, had 92-70-73 and 91-75-73, respectively. W. H. Spurgeon was third with 91-75-75 and F. G. Pinkerton fourth with 96-70-76.

The St. Louis Cards expect Carey Selph, a rookie infielder, to be a star of the highest magnitude next summer.

The Santa Ana aggregation scored in the first quarter but was unable to put over any more touchdowns, although several times they were within scoring distance. Fullerton made its first tally early in the second period when Phillip intercepted a pass by Lusk on his own 35-yard line and raced to a touchdown. He also converted. Fullerton's second score came in the third quarter when Phillip tossed a 30-yard pass to Schoultz over the goal line. Again Phillip converted. The Yellow Jackets scored again in the last quarter after Phillip had tossed another of his deadly passes to Houghan who was downed on Santa Ana 8-yard line. Houghan went over after two attempts. Phillip missed goal that time.

As usual, the Dons played beautiful football and as in the past two games outplayed their opponents in the matter of first downs and yards from scrimmage but lacked the punch necessary to put the ball over after they had it in scoring distance. Their only tally came as a result of a recovered fumble by Fullerton on the latter's 12-yard line. They lost the ball on downs here but Fullerton's kick was rushed and netted only about 5 yards. This time the Dons took the ball from the Fullerton 8-yard line over the goal in three plays. Bill Dugger, who made up his school work and became eligible at the last moment, carried the ball over the line. Guyer failed to get the extra point on an end run.

In the first quarter and even well into the second when they scored first, the Yellow Jackets were clearly bewildered by the power of the Dons and it was not until the second half that they seemed to recover their nerve and held the Santa Ana team for downs.

Despite the fact that Rust and Harvey were out of the lineup, the Dons played fine ball. Dugger, as usual, outshone the opponents and was the big ball packer of the local team. Norton, Guyer, Mander, Schoultz, Lusk, and Goodbody were the other back field men who turned in fine performances, but the only trouble was that the Santa Ana boys lacked the power, fight, brains, or call it what you like, to put the ball over the goal.

after they took it deep into Fullerton territory. Hafer was doing the punting for Santa Ana and he did well, averaging 40 yards. Only two instances of punts under 35 to 50 yards. Phillip did the booting for Fullerton and averaged 45 yards.

A resume of the statistics shows that the Dons made 13 first downs, to Fullerton's 4, for a total of 17 yards, exclusive of passes. The Fullerton boys made 48 yards, exclusive of passes, but it was in this latter department that they were so proficient as to defeat the local boys. The Yellow Jackets attempted five passes, two being incomplete, one intercepted and two complete for about 30 yards each time. It was these long passes, along with the intercepted one, that gave Fullerton its lead.

SIX ELEVEN STILL HAVE CLEAR RECORD

NEW YORK (Nov. 19).—The ranks of unbeaten and untied college football teams included only six elevens today—three from the south, two from the east and one from the middle west. Two southern teams lead in points scored this year, Florida first with 264 and Tennessee second with 226. The middle western team—Detroit university—leads the defensive column, having held its opponents to 14 points. Undeclared and untied teams are Florida, Tennessee, Detroit university, Carnegie Tech, Boston college and Georgia Tech.

BADGERS LOOM AS CHAMPIONS OF BIG TEN

University of Wisconsin is now the only undefeated team in the Big Ten conference following its surprising victory over Iowa, Saturday. Below are five stars of the Badger eleven: Gene Rose and "Bo" Cuisinier, halfbacks; Neil Hayes, quarterback; Captain "Rube" Wagner, guard, and Bill Kettlar, tackle.

SANTA ANA-ALHAMBRA BATTLE SATURDAY WILL DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP OF LEAGUE

With the best chance a Santa Ana high school eleven has had for a championship since 1925, Coach "Tex" Oliver's powerful Saint squad will go on a crusade to the headquarters of the widely publicized Alhambra Moors next Saturday afternoon. This game, the next to last on the Coast Preparatory league schedule, will decide whether Santa Ana or Alhambra wins the title and the right to face Compton in a post-season classic, probably in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

On paper, Santa Ana stands little chance against the team which George Hobbs, who was at Anaheim in 1925 and 1926, had put on the field this term. Alhambra has scored at least four times on every opposition, its record reading as follows:

Alhambra 27, San Diego	14
Alhambra 27, Long Beach	0
Alhambra 28, Whittier	0
Alhambra 32, Pasadena	7
Alhambra 31, Glendale	13

Alhambra 145 Opponents . . . 34

Santa Ana can offer no such record for the season but that Oliver's men have shown constant improvement is proved by the following conference games:

Santa Ana 0, Long Beach	0
Santa Ana 13, Whittier	7
Santa Ana 20, South Pasadena	0
Santa Ana 18, Glendale	0
Santa Ana 24, Pasadena	6

Santa Ana 75, Opponents . . . 13

SAINTS DEFEAT PASADENA 6-13

Cooke, Smith's sally netted 16 yards. "Flivver" Ford, a saved-off colored boy, then circled Captain Hearn for a substantial gain. Ford next threw a forward pass to Powers, none of the Saint linemen rushing Ford and none of the backs doing anything to discourage Powers until he caught the ball and ran to the 14-yard line. On the very next play Smith started around right end, swerved past Cooke and out back for 13 yards, stopping a yard short of a touchdown. Cox went across for the touchdown on the next play. Smith failed to kick goal.

Stopped on Goal Line

Santa Ana, a little bewildered, got together for a few moments and acted like a ball team after the next kickoff, a long one which Rebohn brought in to the 25-yard line as the quarter closed. Rebohn, Spencer and Nuzum, who had replaced Crumley, drove the length of the field but when they got inside the Bulldog 10-yard line, the forwards began to loaf again and the Saint backs got stuck with the ball three yards short of a touchdown.

Pasadena kicked out from behind its own goal and held the Saints for downs again but Kidder's second boot was not much better than his first, being grounded on the Pasadena 40-yard line. At this juncture Coach Oliver sent in a substitute with some orders and "Five Yards" Rebohn hummed around right end on a nicely executed triple pass for 40 yards and a tying touchdown. You are right, Norton; the goal was not kicked and the teams left the field for their breathing spell tied at six-up.

Santa Ana's line played 100 per cent better ball defensively in the second half but still didn't take their men out on the offense and Captain Hearn had to take to the air to eke out a win. It was comforting to know that the Saints could work scoring plays when they had to but it was uncomfortable to see their reserve plays, triple passes and off-tackle punts, plays flattened out almost as soon as they started.

Pass Way To Touchdown

A long forward pass, Rebohn to Cooke, put Santa Ana in scoring position early in the third quarter. The Santa Ana running attack stopped again, Rebohn tossed another pass over the goal to Cooke, who made a hair-raising catch for the touchdown. Rebohn missed goal.

Pasadena kicked off and Rebohn dashed through the whole Bulldog team and looked to be away for a touchdown but made the mistake of reversing his field instead of continuing straight down the sidelines and was dragged down by a last desperate tackle on Pasadena's 25-yard line after a sensational 70-yard run. Rebohn then passed to Cooke who gave the Saints a first down only inches from the goal and Spencer "powered" it across on the first play. Rebohn missed goal.

Santa Ana kicked off this time but got the ball in jig time when Harold Pangle, a substitute half-back, intercepted a forward pass deep in Bulldog territory. A fourth successful pass to Cooke and a belated display of running plays power immediately led to the Saints' fourth score. Nuzum sweeping around end for the score after he and his mates had lugged the bladder up to the 3-yard line just as the third quarter closed. Nuzum's touchdown was the first play of the fourth period. Fredericks failed to buck the ball over for the extra point.

Santa Ana outclassed Pasadena offensively in spite of its inconsistent line play. The Saints rolled up 14 first downs, 241 yards on running plays and 77 yards on forward passes for a grand total of 318 yards from the line of scrimmage. Pasadena made 5 first downs, 66 yards on running plays, 15 on passes and 81 yards from scrimmage. Four of its first downs and 63 of its yards were run up in the first quarter which is Santa Ana's weekly siesta period.

Rebohn was the outstanding Saint with his steady off-tackle gains, his superb returns of kickoffs and his faultless forward passing which, in the end, meant the difference between victory and not-so-good. Despite his first half defensive shortcomings, Cooke looked like the star that he is on the receiving end of Rebohn's passes. Hardin played well throughout and Youel did all that could be expected in the second half. Crumley and Nuzum performed creditably on the offense and Pangle was a shining light on defense. Norman Paul, who is counted on to take care of a first stringer backfield berth next fall, ran, kicked and passed like a first stringer while he was in the going.

CARNEGIE TECH FILES STRONG CLAIM TO U. S. CHAMPIONSHIP

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—What was it Archimedes said when he discovered that a body immersed in water would be all right until the following Saturday night? Eureka! meaning "Ah, ha," in the mother tongue.

That's about what followers of intercollegiate football are saying today after taking due note of several significant developments of the week-end.

The first of these saw Carnegie Tech win, going away, from a Notre Dame team that, one week previously, had beat the Army most convincingly. The second was Pittsburgh's scoreless tie with Nebraska.

In consequence, Carnegie Tech stands convicted today of the charge of being the first outfit to file a substantial claim against the national championship. Nebraska remains undefeated but its tie with Pitt is embarrassing in view of the fact that the latter is one of Carnegie's earlier victims. Wisconsin, the verge of showing where the authority rests in the Western conference, can't hope to extend its claims geographically because it was tied by Purdue, which lost to Northwestern and Minnesota.

Coast Title Undecided

California and Southern California have yet to establish sectional priority before they can consider the matter of going out of their jurisdiction. Princeton has ties with Virginia and Ohio State to explain, which is being done, and Detroit, Boston college, Ohio Wesleyan and Villanova lack schedules of major consequence.

Therefore, if Carnegie can make it unanimous by beating New York university next Saturday, there may be few teams that can dispute its right to the national title. There will be none that can present a superior claim.

At this writing, it appears that the most plausible contention will come from the Southern leaders, Georgia Tech, Florida and Tennessee. The last two will engage in an elimination contest December 8 but Tech only has to beat Alabama Poly, which should be simple, and Georgia, which won't be. Granted that it takes both in stride, it will require oratorical fervor to talk it out of positive consideration in a national way.

As for the coast, it won't be able to nominate any kind of a candidate until after it sends Southern California against Notre Dame and Stanford against the Army.

Few Real Surprises

Rain reduced many of Saturday's contests to mud bailing but there were few real surprises. Princeton figured to beat Yale and did, although I can't say it was altogether a workmanlike performance. Iowa probably was favored over Wisconsin but found itself playing what likely was a better team under any conditions. Detroit and Boston college did everything expected of them in winning with something to spare over Fordham and Canisius, respectively. Stanford and U.S.C. also won according to the book, although Washington State proved to be no tip-over for U.S.C. Georgia Tech's victory over Alabama was but about what it should have been, except that a weakened Alabama team had a 13 all tie at half time, largely on fumbles by Tech Florida gained its anticipated decision over Clemson, coming from behind to do it, the hallmark of a champion. Tennessee's first victory in some 12 years over Vanderbilt didn't exactly violate anybody's confidence, either.

In the line of upsets was Pitt's tie with Nebraska, although in justice to both it may be said that the former happens to be one of the east's best—a matter of November development. The Hucksers, as a matter of fact, seem to have been outplayed in the mud, which is surprising with a "power team" like Nebraska.

The score that Colgate ran up on Syracuse was a shock to the better

'BIG GAME' IS NEXT ON COAST GRID SCHEDULE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—The Big Game, which regardless of the Pacific Coast conference outcome, will largely determine the success or failure of the 1928 football season for University of California and Stanford, today occupied the thought of Far Western fandom.

It was reported that the University of California was forced to return unfilled orders from 6000 alumni for seats in the Berkeley Memorial stadium next Saturday.

The week-end games did little to the status of the conference race and provided only meager dope on Stanford and California.

The Cardinals were shown, in their 12 to 0 victory over Washington, to be still suffering from an unexplained slump. The Bears demonstrated nothing, for the second time romped about the University of Nevada for a 60 to 0 victory.

The University of Southern California Trojans moved another notch toward the conference championship by defeating Washington State, 27 to 13.

A state battle in Oregon saw the University of Oregon defeat Oregon State, 12 to 0.

For the first time in years, the Bears of U. C. today were accorded a good chance of winning the annual western classic from Stanford. The Bear goal line is yet uncrossed by a collegiate team and all school teams U. C. has met have been defeated, with the exception of U. S. C. The Bears and Trojans played a 0 to 0 tie.

The Trojans also have a clean record and should Stanford win Saturday, it will give Southern California undisputed claim to the Pacific conference title.

On a basis of comparative scores, California is stronger. After the Bears and Trojans had played their game, the Trojans defeated the Cardinals, 10 to 0.

To bolster Stanford hopes, however, is the wizardry of "Pop" Warner, who is certain to spring surprise after surprise on the Bears in the climactic fray of the year.

Fumbles and haphazard football have largely accounted for the Cardinals' lack of success thus far in the season—and a shift in the wind may change them into the customarily well drilled machine of Warner's production.

In the meantime, the fight for tickets, as thrilling to those without them as the game, is underway.

Paul intercepted Smith's pass and ran it back to the Bulldog 42-yard line. Crumley replaced Rebohn and the Saints were penalized 15 yards when he talked before a play had been run.

Paul made a yard around right end, then 3 through left tackle. Paul's pass was incomplete. Dubois replaced Hardin. Paul kicked to Ford who came back 5 yards to Pasadena's 25-yard line. Buxton went in for Cooke. Blacker failed to gain around end. Two Bulldog passes were incomplete. Hagthorn replaced Fredericks and Tarver replaced Youel. Cox kicked to Santa Ana's 40-yard line.

Paul circled right end for 9 yards. Paul's pass fell incomplete. Crumley went off left tackle on a reverse for 10 yards and first down on the Pasadena 20-yard line as the game ended.

Score—Santa Ana, 24; Pasadena, 6.

MANY CONTESTS OF IMPORTANCE NEXT SATURDAY

By I. E. CONKLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Several of the country's leading eleven will be making desperate bids for sectional and national recognition in the semi-finals of the gridiron sweepstakes next Saturday. The day will mark the last appearance of the season but one for virtually all of the Eastern teams. Army, Boston college and Holy Cross are the only Eastern eleven scheduled to play a week from Saturday.

Carnegie Tech, headed for the Eastern and possibly the national title, faces a formidable hurdle in New York university. The powerful Violet eleven, still smarting from its unexpected defeat by Georgetown on a muddy field, will journey to Pittsburgh with a psychological edge on the Skilbos. The New York-ers have played Carnegie twice, in 1926 and 1927, and won both games.

By defeating Army, Nebraska can recover the prestige it lost by being held to a scoreless tie by Pittsburgh. And an Army victory will put the Soldiers back in the running.

A Princeton triumph over Navy will furnish further proof that the Tigers' ties with Virginia and Ohio State were all wrong. The magnitude of Princeton's task is indicated by the Midshipmen's smashing 57 to 0 victory over Loyola of Baltimore of last week.

Georgetown, with a perfect record except for its defeat by Carnegie, should defeat Fordham. The chances of Georgetown for the Eastern title, as is the case with the other contenders, depend upon a defeat for Carnegie.

seasons at New Haven. Although both have been beaten more often than a boarding house rug, hallowed tradition will lend this classic a distinction all its own.

Dartmouth, whose cripples staggered home to a 29 to 0 victory over Cornell last Saturday, journey westward for an inter-sectional tilt with Northwestern at Evanston, Illinois.

The little Villanova eleven may be dropped from the list of the unbeaten when it tackles Davis and Elkins, the giant killers who topped West Virginia and Navy. Boston college, unbeaten and untied, has a possible tartar on its hands in the Connecticut Aggies, who have rolled up a total of 64 points to none for their minor opponents on the New England circuit.

SIX TROY GRID STARS INJURED IN W. S. C. TILT

By JACK JAMES
(I. N. S. Special Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—It is written that he who takes his fun where he finds it must eventually pay for his fun.

Our esteemed Trojans took their fun—and their opportunities as well—where and when they found 'em on Saturday afternoon, and the result was a 27-13 victory over Washington State college, bringing all but positive assurance of no worse than a tie for the Pacific Coast conference championship, today, in the cold gray dawn of a blizzard Monday after, they are faced with the necessity of paying for their fun just when payment is apt to prove costly.

One debt that is particularly hard to meet at this time involves Charley Boren, perhaps the most luckless lad that ever played football in these parts. After an in-and-out season at running guard—in to do his full duty and out the next day for rest and re-

He has been bothered by a "trick knee" ever since his sophomore days as a halfback. In the Washington State game the other knee went out, and now he is down for the full count. An aggressive and heady player, and a fighter from opening whistle to final gun, Boren will be sadly missed in the Trojans' final and most significant appearance of the season, against Notre Dame here two weeks hence.

Six men in all were taken from the field during the course of that hectic battle. Of these Boren is the only one apt to be permanently hors de combat, but the other five took a prodigious battering and will require considerable rest and treatment before reporting back for duty.

These patients are Nate Barrager, center, who finally collapsed cold; Harry Edelson, who took another whack on his bad leg; Lloyd Thomas, who acquired a "charley horse" in addition to other less hampering bruises; Marshall Duffield, who got smacked around worse than ever our Mr. Dempsey did in the course of professional engagements, and Clark Galloway, the aggressive guard, who met someone in the thick of things and was led off the field all dizzied up.

Dugger Stars

Dugger played a wonderful game for the Dons, taking a terrific pounding throughout the game. He was finally taken out in the last quarter. Warner, Miles, Woodington, Griswold and Stump deserve mention for their playing. In the backfield, Norton, Manderscheid and Lusk also turned in fine performances.

Older motors with big piston clearance could stand lots of carbon

The new high-compression motors have as little as 1/32 of an inch between the top of the piston and the cylinder head—flint carbon is ruinous to them, even in small quantities

A handful of flint carbon... and only 1/32 of an inch to put it in

You've probably seen mechanics working on one of the older type motors—scraping layers of carbon off the piston heads—a big handful of it from one motor!

But the newer engines could never stand such carbon deposits. Some of them have only the thickness of a knife blade between piston and cylinder head—no room at all for carbon.

What causes carbon?

The carbon that builds up in your motor comes from burned oil. And it is a strange fact that often the highest priced lubricants will give you large quantities of gritty, hard carbon.

In spite of all this it is easy now to avoid carbon-forming oils. For science has perfected one oil that is vitally different.

Only a little soft soot

Shell Motor Oil, the result of a new refining process, forms less than one-third the carbon of even the costliest oils; no hard carbon, only a little soot that blows easily away through the exhaust.

Its lubricant value is far greater than old type oils. Careful refining leaves all its "body" intact ready to resist even the most violent changes in temperature.

Insist on Shell Motor Oil every time you buy. It is almost a necessity in today's motors.

SHELL MOTOR OIL

Shell 400, the new "dry" gas that burns cleanly and keeps out of the crankcase, is the ideal running mate for Shell Motor Oil. Even Shell Motor Oil can be ruined by "thinning" with a "wet" gas

CALL TREBLE CLEF PRACTICE FOR THURSDAY

D. C. Cianfoni, director of the Santa Ana Municipal band and sponsor of the Treble Clef club, ladies' choral organization founded by him last month, announced this morning that members of the club would hold their weekly meeting on Thursday instead of Tuesday, as is customary, in order that members may have an opportunity to attend the initial concert of Santa Ana Cantando club's winter series.

Cianfoni said that rapid progress is being made by the new choral organization, which he feels will prove a valuable addition to the musical life of the community. Commenting on the club's excellent rehearsal which he attended last Tuesday night, he stated that the Treble Clef club members and directors were especially enthusiastic in preparations for the club's first public appearance on December 14, when it will be heard in connection with the elaborate Christmas concert to be presented by the band.

The club will be heard at this time in "The Birthday of the King" and "The Infant Jesus" (Pietro Yon). Selected Christmas carols will be offered by the band for the first time, while the entire "Nutcracker Suite," by Tschai-kovsky, composed of numerous varied movements, based on a typically Christmas fantasy and one of the best-loved numbers of symphonic literature, will be an additional attractive feature.

Cianfoni stated that Treble Clef club members also are practicing on nine numbers, to be given in connection with Santa Ana Symphony orchestra's first concert of the winter season, during the latter part of January. On this occasion the orchestra will present the entire picturesque "Peer Gynt" suite, by Edvard Grieg, a universal favorite.

The club, purely a community organization, founded solely for the purpose of promoting Santa Ana's musical progress, is composed of 100 members, under direction of Margherita Marsden, well known Santa Ana artist. Although its membership already is quite adequate, all women still interested in joining the club are urged to be present at next Thursday night's rehearsal, at 7:30 p. m., since it still is possible to use a few mezzos, second sopranos and contraltos.

"The value of excellent choral organizations in development of a community's musical culture cannot be too strongly emphasized," Cianfoni said. "Some of the foremost composers of today are writing some of their best compositions for use of choral ensembles."

CUTE COLLEGE CAPER

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 19.—Four fire-alarms were turned in within 24 hours and when the culprit finally was located it turned out to be but a young co-ed at the University of Indiana. The only contents found in the box by the arriving apparatus was a ripe egg.

An arrest, a taste of police station life, a severe lecture, a promise to be good and the co-ed was turned over to the Sophomore Vigilance Committee.

CLASSMATES RALLY 'ROUND

Old times on the campus displaced future state plans as a conversation topic when this group of old Stanford classmates called on Herbert Hoover at Palo Alto. Left to right, these men, all prominent in business and professions, are: T. K. Code, Stanford's first football quarterback; Judge Carruthers, Archie Rice and Dr. Frank R. Day. The last three were presidents of Hoover's class in consecutive years.

POLY. COLLEGE MUSIC CLASSES TO GIVE OPERA

Encouraged by the success of the production of the comic opera "H. M. S. Pinafore," last season, by the music departments of the Santa Ana high school and junior college, the departments are planning the presentation of a similar opera this season.

Last season "Pinafore" was presented during the national observance of Music week and was considered one of the greatest musical undertakings of the year. The opera for this year has not been selected as yet, but several Gilbert and Sullivan successes are being considered for presentation.

The combined music departments also are planning a special concert to be presented in the high school auditorium in the near future.

As a branch of the junior college division of the music department, the first mixed chorus in the history of the college has been formed this year. Its members include Evelyn Robb, Nada Smith, Melva Fletcher, Thelma Stovall, Hazel Smith, Clark Brown, Floyd Martin, Morris Guyer, Jack Clark and Doyle Stockton.

METEOR FRIGHTENS NATIVES

BOHOL, Philippines, Nov. 19.—(UP)—A huge meteor roaring through the heavens by night and exploding with a tremendous detonation terrorized the inhabitants of Bohol.

Following the explosion, which was like a tremendous thunder-clap, the entire province was lighted up by a great flare.

The meteor fell behind some mountains and searching parties have started to look for the exact spot. This was the third meteor whose fall in the Philippines has been recorded.

OTT AND PAUL NOMINATED TO HEAD EXCHANGE

Les Eckel, secretary of the Santa Ana Exchange club, made public today the names of candidates for office at the coming club election. The candidates were selected by a nominating committee.

John Ott and Dr. Cassius Paul were nominated for president. Clyde Jenken and Harold Brown were nominated for vice president; Ed Pettitt and Gene Hays for second vice president; Gene Douglas, present president, and Les Eckel for secretary; Charles Pritchard, present treasurer, and Lester Tubbs for treasurer.

The list of names was selected by a committee composed of City Attorney C. D. Swanner, Jim Mahoney and Roch Bradshaw. Other nominations may be made from the floor by members of the organization.

HOSPITAL BUILDING PERMIT TAKEN OUT

Permit for the new hospital of the Sisters of St. Joseph, being erected on Stewart drive, just off of North Main street, was issued by the Orange building department today, the building being listed as costing $300,000.

It is expected that the structure will be completed by February 1. The walls up to the first floor and the engine rooms are completed.

With equipment the cost is expected to reach $500,000. The contract is held by Barrett and Hill.

TWO AUTOISTS ARRESTED ON BOOZE CHARGES

Charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, two men were arrested here over the week end and are in the county jail pending hearings.

John R. Lugo, 35, plumber, of 509 Washington street, Balboa, was arrested on the state highway between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon by Walter Meyer, state traffic officer.

He probably will be tried for reckless driving today in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, it was said.

City Officer Perry and Cozad arrested George R. Newman, 47, on a "driving drunk" charge at Fourth and Main streets late yesterday afternoon. He was lodged in the county jail and will be given a hearing before Judge J. F. Talbott today, in police court.

STUDENTS WILL BE GUESTS OF JACIANS

The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet at 8:30 p. m., today, in Ketter's cafe, for a session at which many younger men of the city are expected to be guests. Young business men, high school and junior college students are to be the guests of the members.

Tonight's program is in charge of Coach "Tex" Oliver, of the high school, assisted by Cyrus Featherly.

At the last meeting of the Jacians the future of the organization was considered at length and it was decided to start a campaign for drawing more younger men into the group.

Employees Of Auto Club Dine, Dance

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 19.—San Diego employees of the Auto Club of Southern California were guests at a party given by the Long Beach employees at Travaglini's cafe Saturday evening. In the production contest held between the two offices the southern city emerged victorious and the Long Beach workers had to be hosts at a dinner-dance.

Among those present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Bush-Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Johnson, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Powell, of Long Beach; Hal H. Hobson, of San Diego, and O. K. Flood, of Whittier.

HIGH SCHOOL AND JAYSEE NOTES

Every week over 100 high school papers from almost every state in the Union pour into the office of the Santa Ana high school publication, the Generator. Practically every important high school in Southern California is represented in the exchanges received at the high school here. Papers from Illinois, New York, Florida, Kansas, Arizona, Wisconsin, Oregon, Washington and many other states also are received.

The junior college publication, the Don, mails 63 papers to school and colleges both in the state and outside. The Don exchanges with 27 California institutions and with schools in Arizona, Nevada, Texas, Illinois, and Michigan.

Congratulations from many sources today were being showered on the art staff for the 1928 Ariel, high school year book, for the fine showing it made in the fall convention of the Southern California Press association, held recently in Compton. The Ariel received the highest rating on artistic merit that was given in Southern California.

Miss Frances Egge, art advisor, and Virginia Pope, art editor, of the 1928 year book, are again in charge of the artistic side of the Ariel for the 1929 publication.

WANTS COWS RETURNED

Planiski in his suit asks that a house, lot, cows and other property be decreed Mrs. Emma Glumac, the object of his affections, be returned to him.

It is alleged in the suit that Planiski deeded the property to Mrs. Glumac in the hopes that she would marry him, but now that she will not marry him, Planiski wants his property back.

THEY'LL ROLL DOWN TO RIO WITH HOOVER

Or at least part of the way to the Brazilian capital will the dreadnaught Maryland carry President-elect Herbert Hoover's party on the good will trip to South American countries. Above is the Maryland. Upper left is Capt. Victor A. Kimberly, commander of the big battleship, and upper right is Ensign W. R. Caruthers, in charge of radio communications. Lower left is a detail in the Maryland's bakery, fixing sweets for a presidential palate. At right are (above) Com. A. W. Brown, executive officer, and Lt.-Com. B. F. ## POLY JANITOR SHOULD KNOW AND HE DECLARES YOUTH OF PRESENT AGE IS UNBEATABLE

Visions of school life in its early stages in Santa Ana are possessed by Frank Feighner, head janitor in the high school for the last 20 years.

Modern youth, as painted by some reformers, is all wrong. The youths of today are much better than those of yesterday, according to the veteran employee. Girls and boys of 1928 are more polite, considerate and studious than those of 1908 by a big margin, Feighner remarked.

Feighner first entered the Santa Ana school system about 20 years ago, when the high school was situated in the old Washington street school. E. M. McMath, faculty member last year and now principal of the Elsinore high school, was principal of the institution here at that time. He was succeeded by D. K. Hammond, present executive.

After a few years, the old school was moved to the commodious new quarters at the present site. According to Feighner, the wood shop, gymnasium, forge and machine shop were housed in the present junior college building. Although the school possessed a gym, little was accomplished in athletics. The boys had a football team and a small basketball squad and the girls also boasted a basketball team.

The present student government would have caused a revolution in the school if presented long ago, said the custodian. Teachers had the upper hand and held their students under strict rule. Assembly programs were held in the bleachers before the construction of the auditorium. Assembly programs were dull, stiff and extremely formal, Feighner said. Contrast with this the modern program, alive with music, plays and news reels.

Only two janitors, one engineer and a gardener were employed when Feighner started work. Today, there are about nine janitors, an engineer and his assistant, three gardeners and a carpenter. The student publications were small compared with the present ones. As there were only a few small clubs and a limited number of athletic teams, the Ariel, Poly yearbook, was small. Students worked on the publications for pastime only and one year the Generator staff had a surplus of 13 cents for its efforts.

Feighner expressed the need of another high school and junior college in Santa Ana. Firmly convinced that relief will come in a short time, the friendly janitor, known to every student for the last 20 years, still works early and late for the younger generation of Santa Ana.

Police News

Charged with being drunk in the Santa Ana canyon, F. Hernandez, 26, and Ethel Lopez, 25, Wilmington, were arrested yesterday afternoon and brought to the county jail by deputy sheriffs.

William M. King, 24, Lynwood, charged with failure to pay wages, was arrested by Ed Marion, Anaheim constable, yesterday and given a cell in the county jail.

Darvin J. Aveille, 40, salesman, of 420 East La Veta street, Orange, was lodged in the county jail yesterday by George Bartley, deputy sheriff, on a petty theft charge.

An automobile registered to W. R. McWilliams, of 1070 West Fourth street, reported stolen from in front of the residence Saturday night, was found abandoned at Sixth street and Western avenue yesterday.

Two overcoats were stolen from two cars near St. Ann's Inn Saturday afternoon, according to reports filed with city police. One of the coats was the property of C. L. McCumber and the other belonged to B. L. Shinn, both of Buena Park.

WORLD AIR ROUTE
OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 19.—(UP)—An air route around the world is seen as a strong possibility in the near future by J. A. Wilson, controller of civil aviation, who recently returned from a stay of two months in the British Isles and Europe.

"Enormous developments in inter-Europe communication may be expected within the next few years," Wilson said. "While efforts so far have been to some extent concentrated on flights to India and Africa, the eyes of British fliers are turning towards Canada." The R-11 and R-101 will shortly be ready for their trial trips and in the early spring would be ready for transatlantic trips to Montreal.

SPEEDY ACTION WILL BE TAKEN BY PROSECUTOR

Unless some unforeseen incident arises, evidence collected by the district attorney's office in connection with the killing of John D. Callicot, 40, and Orilla R. Mahon, 40, by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Montgomery on the property of the California Gun club, last Thursday afternoon, will be presented to the Orange county grand jury tomorrow, it was announced today.

At the same time the district attorney's office stated that it was likely that complaints charging murder would be filed against Montgomery by that office without waiting to present the evidence to the grand jury.

Callicot and Mahon, hunting ducks on the gun club's property, were shot and killed by Montgomery, he said, after they had opened fire on him with their shotguns for shooting at their dog.

That speedy action in the case would be taken was promised by the district attorney's office, after a coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from gunshot wounds with a gun in the hands of Montgomery, who shot with intent to kill. The jury recommended that the district attorney further probe the case.

In the meantime, Montgomery occupies a cell in the county jail, booked for suspicion of murder, and is allowed no bail.

He is not allowed visitors and newspaper men have been kept away from his cell.

Funeral services for Callicot were held this morning in the Winbiger Mission Funeral Home. Interment was made in the Central Memorial park.

Callicot, a theatrical man, formerly was connected with Sid Grauman, Los Angeles promoter and theater owner and was well known in theatrical circles throughout California.

Funeral services for Mahon will be conducted in the Winbiger Funeral home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be made in Central Memorial park, near the grave of the friend with whom he met his death.

THEATER BIDS TO BE OPENED SOON

ORANGE, Nov. 19.—Bids for the completion of the theater on North Glassell street will be submitted to M. Elitiste, owner of the structure some time between this date and Friday, it was announced today. Completion of the building will cost approximately $65,000.

Work will begin about the first of December, Elitiste states, and it is expected that the formal opening will take place about the first of April.

The theater was leased recently by C. Langley, of Santa Monica, owner of a chain of theaters.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 19.—(UP)—One out of every 11 families in New Orleans has appealed to charitable agencies for aid during the first eight months of this year, a Community chest tabulation shows. Requests were received from more than 7000 families.

J. C. Football Dance Is Held Following Fullerton Game

Football season at the Santa Ana junior college was brought to a close Saturday night when students of the Fullerton junior college at a football dance held at the Orange American Legion hall.

Goal posts bearing the colors of the local college, scarlet and black, were placed at each end of the hall and dancing did not begin until a referee appeared upon the floor and blew his whistle. Punch, was served throughout the evening in milk bottles, the counterparts of those in which water is given players on the football field.

Favors of football balloons carried out the girdiron motif even further.

Two hundred young people were present for the affair, which was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. William Foote, and Miss Agnes Todd Miller.

Guests at the dance included a group of former junior college students who included Donald Zaiser, Miss Jean Campbell, Allan Goddard, Edward Rinkler, and Miss Dorothy Duncan.

Eddie Gerhardt, social commissioner, was in charge of arrangements for the dance. His assistants included Sterling Barnett and Willard White, decoration committee; Miss Madeline Morelock, Miss Max Bel Gilbert, Felix Garney, and Rex Brown, refreshment committee; Ray Lindman, Delmar Brown, Miss Clara Kate Owens, and Miss Ruth Ann Walker, favor committee.

Tenth Birthday Occasion For Attractive Party At Yarnell Home

The group of youngsters who were Miss Betty's guests enjoyed the afternoon in playing a series of entertaining games which had been planned for their amusement by Mrs. West and Mrs. Yarnell.

Dignified turkeys, staid Pilgrims, and other reminders of the approach of Thanksgiving marked the tables where refreshments were served. Of chief interest was the huge birthday cake in orange and white which was topped by ten orange candles.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

That "Quart of Milk a Day" Theory Nutrition authorities say that both child and adult require a quart of milk a day to maintain efficient good health.

Most human beings take that literally—that the quart of milk must be consumed as a beverage—and there they stick, for milk is distasteful to a lot of people.

It doesn't mean that. The quart of milk should be consumed each day either as a beverage, or combined with other foods in cooked dishes. That puts a different color on the matter, doesn't it?

Why not use evaporated milk for these cooked dishes? It saves money for you in the end because its high fat content replaces one-half the amount of shortening called for in most dishes.

Each day this week this opening paragraph will deal with some way in which evaporated milk may be used in combination with other foods.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Eggless Devil's Food Cake
1/2 cup shortening
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 squares unsweetened chocolate or
1/2 cup of cocoa
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup hot water
2 1/2 cups pastry flour, unsifted
1 teaspoon vanilla.

This cake can be put together in a jiffy, you have everything in hand when you start. First thing to do is to shave up the chocolate and melt it over hot water, adding a little hot water to the chocolate.

While this is doing put the shortening into a warm bowl and beat it to a creamy mass, gradually work in the sugar, and the salt, and then the softened chocolate and beat again so that there are absolutely no lumps.

Sift the flour and measure the amount. Slowly mix the flour into the creamy mass, alternating with the sour milk. When the batter is whipped smooth add the soda dissolved in the 1/2 cup of hot water, mix well, add vanilla and put into buttered layer cake tins and into an oven, stone-cold to start. Light the oven and when the oven is hot the cake is nicely raised and the heat can be reduced to finish.

Frosting for the cake can be chocolate or the delicious fluffy frosting given below.

Whipped Fruit Frosting
One egg white, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup white sugar, few grains of salt, 1/2 cup whole raisins, 1/4 cup sliced citron, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Put the egg white, water, syrup and sugar in a double boiler; set over the water as it begins to boil and beat continuously for exactly seven minutes. Set the dish in cold water for five minutes, then add the fruit and lemon juice and mix well.

A slice of this cake cut one inch wide and to the center of the cake has in it 350 energy calories.

This is to be Evaporated Milk Week and the leaflet is in line with the week's program. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and see for yourself "What's in a can of condensed milk."

TOMORROW we are going to have a really new salad dressing, to be used with green salads: If some one in The Family soldiers on the salad course serve this new dressing and see how keen they will be thereafter.

R. G. Tuthill Home Is Setting for Pretty Wedding Service

The R. G. Tuthill home at 1702 North Broadway was the setting for an especially pretty wedding Saturday morning when John Valentine of Pine, Arizona, and Miss Bess Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hart of Inglewood, were married by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city.

Mr. Valentine is a life long friend of Mr. and Mrs. Tuthill as is his mother, Mrs. Z. Valentine of Burbank.

The marriage vows of the two young people were taken in the midst of lovely chrysanthemums which had been arranged by Mrs. Tuthill. The becoming brown frock of the bride with harmonizing accessories carried out the autumn color scheme expressed in the flowers.

A delicious wedding breakfast followed the ceremony when places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Valentine, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hart, the Rev. Mr. McFarland, and Mr. and Mrs. Tuthill.

Immediately after the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine left by automobile for Pine, Arizona, where they will make their home on the large ranch, 45 miles square, which is owned by Mr. Valentine. He was a member of the engineering corps during the World war and for some time past has been directing engineer for a number of development associations in the vicinity of Los Angeles. He plans to devote all of his time in the future to the management of his ranch, however.

Following the rehearsal Saturday night, the entire party motored to the McPeak home where a delicious supper was enjoyed.

Those present for the occasion included the Rev. and Mrs. McPeak, Miss Helen McPeak, Mr. Yager, Miss Mary Blaisdel of the Pomona College faculty, Miss Lucinda Griffith of Laguna Beach, Miss Nellie Vance Wilson of Los Angeles, Miss Martha McPeak, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yager and their small daughter, Mildred, of La Verne, Mr. and Mrs. R. ## The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Princess Mary of England attended a luncheon at which most of the lady guests smoked. King George's and Queen Mary's only daughter minced no words in saying that she didn't like it. Smoking has stopped at all social affairs to which any woman member of the royal household is invited. The postscript, "Ladies will not be allowed to smoke," was added to invitations to a charity matinee which Princess Mary was expected to attend.

One wonders if Princess Mary really does have an aversion to the habit, or whether she feels it her duty, in deference to mass opinion, to take such a stand. No, considering her bringing up by a conservative mama, she probably is really sincere about it. Still, she did insist on wearing short skirts even when her mama re-proved her!

PROUD TO THE LAST
Elizabeth Marbury, one of our first "feminists," author, political leader, literary agent, dramatic producer, is now 71 years old and crippled with rheumatism. For the first time in her life she admits herself sufficiently jobless to philosophize. She says such things as:

"I never crab about anything; it's very futile," and, "I attracted all the lame ducks limping around, but never a man that I wanted to marry."

There's feminine pride to the last, the insistence that it was she who didn't want to marry them. Maybe she's speaking truth, but one has a way of observing that the "lame duck" who finds sympathy and understanding and assistance with a certain woman rushes off to marry some flatter-bugger quite sans all those qualities.

"I WANT IT!"

There's a dress down in Mexico valued at $22,000, a filmy, cobwebby thing which can be drawn through the proverbial ring. The dress once belonged to the wife of a president of Mexico and has been donated by its present owner to a museum. Here's the wagger that many women, learning of this dress, will covet it and take steps to see if they can acquire ownership.

Which is an interesting commentary on the difference in men and women, especially modern men and women. Someone has observed that given enough warmth, enough food, enough tobacco, and a roof that doesn't leak, a man asks for little more. But woman so takes luxuries as her birthright that even $22,000 dresses do not seem hopelessly beyond the ken of a goodly number of them.

SOME SENTIMENT STILL

One hundred and forty-three couples were married in "The Little Brown Church in the Vale" in Nashua, Iowa, last year. The record does not compare, of course with that of another church rich in tradition, "The Little Church Around the Corner," but considering its isolation from the

The Tinies were a happy crowd. Their little boat was on a cloud, and they were floating through the air as nice as could be. Wee Clowdy's face began to beam and he exclaimed, "It's like a dream. We do not have to row at all, and that appeals to me."

The small balloon was still above. Soon Scouty said, "Say, I would love to meet the little man who's giving us this dandy ride. Perhaps he'll come down pretty soon, 'cause he is still in that balloon. I see him every now and then. I guess he's trying to hide."

They floated on an hour or so, first moving fast, then moving slow. Some other clouds came near, but bothered no one very much. The Tinymites began to joke. Said Coppy, "Every Cloud's like smoke. They look so soft it seems that they should be real nice to touch."

"Oh, don't do that," another cried. "If foolish things like that are tried, you might fall from beaten track, it's not a bad tribute to the power of tradition.

Refreshing, too, for the number of J. P. weddings and the like sometimes almost convince one that sentiment concerning place and circumstances of marriage is an obsolete thing.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

A certain writer said in a recent article that he was convinced that fathers made a mistake in trying to give their sons the idea that they were perfect.

"If my boys know that I smoke and play cards for money and take a cocktail now and then, we are likely to be better pals than if I tried to give them the impression that I am a tin god," he said.

Don't shudder, good fathers and mothers, at this man's logic. As he does these things, wouldn't it be the rankest hypocrisy to pretend that he didn't?

And yet, there is a fine point here. Growing boys are very apt to set their standard on a level with those of their fathers. They are likely to reason something like this: "It may not be the best thing to do, but it is good enough for father, so I guess it is good enough for me."

The world is pretty old. Most of its accepted standards have endured the test of centuries. They remain because they have been tried and not found wanting.

Thus, the old standard of a father setting the example for a boy to follow probably cannot be greatly improved upon.

We might suggest that the father cut out such vices as would affect his sons. But suppose he doesn't, then what?

Here in America, mothers very often are not averse to discussing their husbands with the children. It may be said to be almost a purely American habit. Usually the discussion is in the form of a complaint at that. "If your father would only do this! If he would not do that! If he was worth his salt he'd do the other thing."

In Europe wives of profligate and even cruel husbands often will endure silently for years rather than allow their children to suspect the manner of men their fathers are. So fearful are they of the influence such knowledge might be on the impressionable minds of their children, and the bad effect of example, that they will even eulogize the offender and keep his sins safely guarded so that the children grow to maturity with the idea that their father is perfect. As we know, too, European women are not likely to seek divorce where there are children.

Our new ideas of feminism will never agree to this. We don't relish the martyr idea, and it isn't our intention to suffer in silence. But it seems reasonable that we might emulate our European sisters to this extent, that we cease belittling our offending mates to our children, regardless of what attitude the "mates" themselves take in the matter.

But it seems reasonable that we might emulate our European sisters to this extent, that we cease belittling our offending mates to our children, regardless of what attitude the "mates" themselves take in the matter.

Good news this—the common cold probably causes more woe to humanity on the whole than leprosy or cancer. The old story of the small thing in great abundance being worse to take than the great thing in small doses.

AT THE THEATRE

WEST END

Packed from start to finish with highly thrilling and charming scenes, "The Fighting Eagle," Rod La Rocque's latest De Mille star picture, opened yesterday at the West End theatre. The production, directed by Donald Crisp, rises at times to the dignity of great drama, and the featured players including Phyllis Haver, Julia Faye, Sally Rand and Sam de Grasse appeared to excellent advantage.

The fascinating period of Napoleonic rule in France is the background of one of the best pictures in which La Rocque has been seen since he became a star. The star is seen as Telenne Gerrard, an ambitious country boy whose sole desire is to attach himself to the Emperor's guard.

He accomplished this by certain deeds of daring in behalf of Countess de Launay, a secret agent of Napoleon, with whom he falls in love. La Rocque captures the stellar honors as Gerrard, Miss Haver is excellent as Countess de Launay, while Julia Faye is a regal Josephine. Mr. de Grasse as Talleyrand proves himself as smooth a villain as the screen can offer. Sally Rand as Talleyrand's secretary plays with commendable restraint and force. The Napoleon as played by Max Barwyn was a realistic one.

WALKER

If you've never visited a motion picture studio, don't fail to go to the Walker theatre and see Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Show People." The picture co-stars Marion Davies and William Haines and offers the most interesting picture of a motion picture studio ever drawn.

Not that "Show People" hasn't other attractions to offer—it has. The story is full of a million laughs. King Vidor has taken the story of a little Southern girl who comes to Hollywood, enters motion pictures and eventually rises to stardom, and with this material has made use of all the funny incidents of life in the film capital that have occurred in the last years.

The locals also have their interest because of the many famous personages who "happen" in, or are working in the background of the picture. The list includes John Gilbert, Greta Garbo, Tim McCoy, Charles Chaplin, Estelle Taylor and many others.

BROADWAY
"Uncle Tom's Cabin," which opened yesterday at the Broadway theatre, is a well-made, moving and generally interesting film. Skill has been put into its cinema construction. They have left us the story of "Liza," her husband, Harris, the rascally Lawyer Marks, the villainous Simon Legree, the altruistic Shelby, poor old Uncle Tom, Topsy, Eva and the final happiness.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the picture upon which Universal Pictures Corporation has been lavishing time and great sums of money for the past two years. Month after month passed before river conditions were right for Liza to cross the ice, but when it was secured a good job was done. We see Liza, bearing her baby Harry, leaping from one cake of ice to another, the bloodhounds of her pursuers hot on the trail, while on the far Ohio shore the helpful Quaker, Philo Fletcher, waited to lend assistance.

One of the best performances in the film is given by a Negro actor, James T. Lowe. He is a tall, upstanding fellow, strong of face and gentle in his demeanor. Margarita Fischer is the "Liza," Arthur Edmund Carew is George Harris, her husband.

URGES SAVING OF WOODLANDS IN CALIFORNIA

By ED JOHNSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Preserve the natural beauty of California's Alps.

That is the policy of the Department of Natural Resources regarding Northern California woodlands, as expressed today by Director Fred G. Stevenet to the United Press.

"Del Norte, Siskiyou, Shasta and other Northern counties are all that is left of the real California," Stevenet said. "Heiter skelter population influxes, ravenous clearing of woodlands and a thousand other evidences of man's encroachment upon nature have ruined most of the old California."

"The North alone remains of the richest, most romantic commonwealth in the nation. It is destined to be the Switzerland of the West."

"Already thousands of persons have awakened to the unmatched beauty of this section. Hunting, fishing, tramping—all the outdoor sports—are at their best here."

"Only occasionally is there a scar where the hand of man has struck. These, fortunately, are very few. For the most part it is California as it was a thousand years ago, centuries before the first white man arrived."

"The Department of Natural Resources is opposed to turning this district into a quick money making region, after which only scarred hills and wasted valleys will tell a silent tale of its former wealth. A hundred sawmills, all going at once, would not be augurs of real prosperity and this department is opposed to erratic, pell mell development."

posed to erratic, pell mell development.

"The Department of Natural Resources has spent thousands and will spend more thousands of dollars in preventing fires from ravaging this region. As time goes on and scores and scores of summer homes nestle on its mountainsides, the danger of fire will be increased here. The department is willing to spend more and more of its allotted funds to safeguard Northern California."

"Some new residents of this rich section have asked for power development on the rivers. The power, by their plans, would be transmitted to central California where a 80 percent surplus already exists with 30 to 40 percent more available."

"The North shall not be turned to the benefit of the Central part of the state by a few promoters if this department can avoid it."

"Let us remember that and preserve the last remaining heritage of the California our forefathers knew."

JULIA LATHROP

Book Week Affairs

National Book week at Julia Lathrop junior high school offered one of the most interesting activities of the year.

Lathrop is very fortunate in having a branch library under the supervision of Miss Leona Calkins. During Book week this library was the most popular room at Lathrop. Students were allowed to go from their English classes to the library where they might vote for their favorite book, browse about the shelves, look over the displays of attractive new books to be found on the tables and visit "Book Land."

This last took the form of a display of book covers made to form a towered castle behind a picturesque gate. In front of the gate could be found any number of book favorites made of pasteboard and mounted on standards. Little Black Sambo stood holding his green umbrella and looking into the open page of the book bearing his name. Running from between the pages of a book of fairy tales came the boy with the goose which laid a golden egg. Hans Brinker and several figures from the "Cousins" books joined the company which was a very colorful and interesting one.

The library has just received some beautiful editions of children's books. These are most attractively illustrated and are sure to be great favorites among the children.

On Friday all students who wished to do so were allowed to come to school dressed to represent their favorite books. There were several Tom Sawyers and Huck Finns. Little Women, Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, Little Red Riding Hood and Hoppy were all present. Uncle Tom, Prince Albert, Lindbergh, Byrd and the Three Musketeers could all be found at different classes.

During the last period of the day a short assembly was held at which time, those students who wore costumes walked across the stage in order that the best costumed character might be chosen.

Harold Kohler, representing Uncle Tom from Uncle Tom's cabin received first prize which was a beautiful copy of Tom Sawyer. Opal Kaiser as Aunt Marilla in Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm received honorable mention as did Edna Wilson as Raggedy Ann.

The general language classes of Lathrop are "live wires" this year, their teachers report. On word study day the dictionaries are greatly in evidence and every student is ready and anxious to find a new word to contribute to the work. Last week was spent in reading about a Roman school which was interesting as a comparison with modern schools. Mrs. Sinke's cooking classes are making cakes and different kinds of icings. Last year members of her cooking classes displayed some most appetizing looking cakes at the Exhibit.

On Wednesday of last week Lathrop students were privileged in seeing the picture "Simba" through the courtesy of Yost's Broadway theater where they were admitted for half price.

Lathrop had fourth place in the city's bank day, with her enrollment. Lathrop should have first place and we are working toward that goal.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Julia Lathrop P.T.A. has chosen a new plan for this year, making the meeting a class hour of instruction.

The first meeting of the year, held in the school cafeteria, enlightened parents as to the workings of the school. This information was given through very interesting talks given by H. G. Nelson, principal, and the head of each department.

The teachers were all introduced and a slight dip taken into politics as a seasonal as was the talk given by Mr. Houpt on the community drive at the second meeting.

The speaker stressed the two main uses for the funds: relief and welfare, showing that by contributing to the latter we might lessen the need of the former. He closed with a plea to give in the Christmas spirit and work together to put over the drive.

This interesting talk was followed by one of great value and charm by Mr. Cranston, on school law, telling us whence our school funds came and showing the child's part in his daily conduct in school life.

The hour closed with a call for newspapers to be sent to school December 6 to swell the P.T.A. fund.

Lowell

Lowell P.T.A. met November 13 in the kindergarten room with a good attendance of mothers and teachers. Miss Mead, chairman of the membership committee, announced that to date Lowell had 120 members of the P.T.A. and that the membership drive would end Friday, November 16.

A general discussion of child welfare work was conducted under the leadership of Mrs. Gowdy. Plans were discussed for a father's night to be held some time in the near future and it was decided to try and have a prominent speaker for that evening if possible the president of the Mothers' Educational Institute.

Mr. Hilliard addressed the mothers and teachers regarding the Community Chest drive. Refreshments were served at the close of a social hour by Mrs. Breeding and Mrs. Bogardus.

ROOSEVELT

There will be three boys' basketball teams for Roosevelt school this season; the first, second, and third teams. The captains, Dwight Gross, Bernell Ausmus and Mathew Brown, were to choose their players Friday, November 16, after school.

Charles Kaufman.

The P.T.A. has had all the children of Roosevelt school bring all the newspapers and magazines to school. There were two sides, the boys and the girls. Last Friday the paper man came with a car. He weighed the papers, the boys won. The P.T.A. gave each boy that brought papers a piece of candy. The papers brought thirty-one dollars.

Betty Ann Whittington.

The children from the third grade up have been studying about different kinds of sea animals. We have studied about sea stars, sea urchins, barnacles, sand dollars, limpets, clams, crabs, and abalones. The names of two of the crabs were ghost crabs and hermit crabs. The hermit crab gets into other sea creature's shells. We had one to look at.

Doris Creel.

The low sixth grade pupils are making booklets of animal stories. The fronts of the booklets have pictures of the kinds of animals the children are writing about, like the tiger, lion, or monkey. There will be just one story in the book now, but later on we may read and write about other animals.

Vivian Elliott.

In Miss Lindsay's room the low fifth and sixth grades are each having a spelling contest. In both rooms the contests are between the girls and boys. The low fifth boys so far have nine points and the girls have thirty-one. In the low sixth grade so far the boys have 102 points, and the girls have 115. The low sixth grade has had more contests than the low fifth.

Lenore McFarren.

At 8:30 Thursday morning, Nov. 16, the safety committee was called to order by the president, Harry Birdsall. The secretary called the roll. Everyone was present. The president read the Safety Exchange. We close our meetings by saying our pledge.

Louise Crawford.

FRANCES WILLARD

Better Speech Week

This is Better Speech week at Frances Willard and in every class room and during the play periods, students are paying special attention to their grammar. Not only are they trying to avoid errors in speech but special emphasis is also being placed on enlarging their vocabularies, on correct spelling, and courtesy in manner and speech.

A lively contest is being held with points awarded on the following basis: No grammatical error noted during the week, 20 points; correcting another's error before witnesses, one point for each correction up to 20 points; handing to English teacher a written article of 150 words, correct in capitalization, punctuation, spelling and construction, 10 points; learning and using 20 new words during the week, 10 points; spelling 50 assigned words without error, 10 points; courtesy in manner and speech, 10 points. Better Speech contest in assembly on the topic, "Advantages of Good Speech," winner, 25 points; second, 20 points; third, 15 points. All other contestants in final speech contest, 10 points; winner of spelling contest, 20 points; second place, 15 points; third, 10 points. All others entering, 5 points.

A prize will be offered to the student having the highest rating at the end of the contest. The ten highest will receive 5 points each toward the Willard Development plan. The students are entering this contest with a great deal of enthusiasm. This year's contest, as last year's, is expected to result in great benefit to all.

The travel club, under the direction of Mrs. Maurine Scott, had a very interesting meeting last week when Mrs. Blacow, who spent two years in the Hawaiian islands spoke on "A Lake and River of Fire." She brought some specimens of lava.

At another meeting Mr. Chamberlin told about a trip around the world, giving special attention to the Mediterranean ports and Egypt. These talks were most instructive and interesting.

—Wesley Pendergraft

Music Appreciation Every Thursday morning music appreciation classes are broadcast over the radio. Some of the Willard students, under the direction of Miss Davis, are taking advantage of these classes. Besides hearing the music, something is told about each composition and the composers. These classes are very interesting and constructive and quite a number of Willard pupils are taking advantage of this opportunity.

—Robert Tannenbaum.

The senior social law club held its monthly meeting last week at the home of Bob Spurgeon. The first part of the evening was spent in parliamentary law drill after which games were enjoyed. The club, sponsored by Mr. Read, meets once each month at the home of one of its members. Miss Langley and Evelyn Adams were the invited guests at the last meeting. Evelyn, who is a former member of the club, gave a very interesting talk on her experiences in Europe during the past summer.

The officers are: president, Maybelle Johnson; vice president,

Bob Spurgeon; secretary, Natalie Neff; reporter, Ruth Owens.

—Bob Spurgeon

Willard Welfare Club

The latest meeting of the Willard welfare club was held in the banquet room on Wednesday noon, November 16. The girls enjoyed a delightful luncheon after which the meeting was called to order by the president, Martha Wallingford.

The club is planning to help some poor family by giving a Thanksgiving dinner where it will be appreciated. A debate was held on the subject, "Resolved: That a Turkey's Gizzard is of More Value Than It's Leg." This proved most amusing.

—Marian Brownridge

The latest meeting of the Willard Service club was held on Tuesday, November 13. After enjoying the meal the meeting was called to order by the president, Glen Evans.

Mrs. Thatcher, girls' advisor, and Ruth Jenkins, were the honored guests. Mrs. Thatcher gave an interesting talk in which she told the boys something about the girls' service club, the Willard Welfare club.

—Robert Tannenbaum

Camp Fire Meeting At the recent meeting of the Camp Fire girls, the newly elected president, Mary Margaret Tippen, presided. She made several announcements and the secretary made her reports. Then the group stood and recited the law and gave the Camp Fire sign.

The girls decided to have dues of two cents at each meeting and five cents for special events. They have decided to make something for the poor children for Christmas. Jeanette Warhurst and Dorris Rahebacker were appointed for the entertainment committee for the next meeting. At the close of the meeting the girls sang the Camp Fire song, Miss Dorothy Broadway is sponsor for this organization.

—Kathryn Sexton

Class Party The 61 section had a class party with the home room teacher, Miss Lura Morris, recently at the home of Betty Paul. The party was very unique as well as amusing for it was a "tacky party." Some of the characters represented were tramps, farmers, duds, bowery girls, and fashion plates of the early 90's. The first part of the evening was spent in playing games. A prize was given to Maybelle Johnston for the best costume. For the best boys costume the prize went to Elmer Fox. The chaperons were Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Scove, Mrs. Noe and Mrs. Orth.

—Flora Park.

Interesting Assembly Last Wednesday morning at the regular weekly assembly period the student body was entertained by several special numbers from the senior high school.

The High School Boys' Glee club, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Mary Batten, sang two delightful songs. D. K. Hammond, principal, talked to the student body, congratulating the young people on their conduct and giving attention during the program.

Preston Bradford, former Willard student, sang two solos, accompanied by Mr. Garsting. Jerry Tannenbaum, also a former Willard student, gave a stirring talk on "School Spirit." Jerry has made rapid progress in high school and Willard is proud to have him among the alumni of this school.

Everard Stovall, noted pianist, and former Willard student, rendered two piano selections, and the program closed with the singing of the Willard song led by Miss Esther Jean Davis.

Missionary Gives Talk In Placentia

PLACENTIA, Nov. 19. — The Rev. Eli Johnson, of Oakland, occupied the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, taking as his text, Luke 6:35.

The evening service was in charge of the Missionary society. Miss Effie Murray, of Yorba Linda, for many years a missionary in China, gave an account of her work there. Mrs. William Wallop spoke of the needs of Siam from a missionary standpoint.

The Rev. Mr. Costello, of Fullerton, who is pastor of the Baptist church in the Mexican settlement of La Jolla, told of the need of missionary work at home among the Mexican population.

As special music, there were Negro spirituals sung by Mrs. Lewis Edwards and Mrs. L. V. Stein. Mrs. Carrie Ford, president of the Missionary society, was in charge of the service.

Snodgrass, Kinsey Defeat Pro Kings

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—That the brilliant tennis team, composed of Karel Kozeluh, Czechoslovakian, and Vincent Richards, one-time member of the American Davis cup team, is not invincible was considered established today. The famous pair was defeated in a professional exhibition match here yesterday by Harvey Snodgrass and Howard Kinsey by the score of 7-5, 7-5. Before the doubles match, Richards was beaten by Kozeluh, 6-3, 6-4.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By ELMER C. WALZER (United Press Financial Editor) NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Huge trading sales in recent speculative rallies today halted the unprecedented upward movement in stocks which began its beginning with the election of Herbert Hoover. However, the manner in which profit taking sales were absorbed clearly indicated that the recession was only corrective and brought about by the record breaking sessions of last week.

Trading quieted down on recessions, reflecting the disposition of the public to be unafraid of the minor reaction. But bearish professionals pressed the market, offering large blocks of stocks at concessions in their effort to bring out frightened investors.

Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Packard, Radio and Montgomery Ward were forced from one to five points lower, but an aggressive display of strength in the copper shares was reassuring. Magenta, Anaconda and Andes all sold at new highs, while Kennecott sold at a good profit taking on the good news of the establishment of the stock on $8 annual basis. DuPont was also strong on declaration of an extra of $1.75 and a three and one-half cent split.

When selling broke out in the industrial list, strong support was met by the market, and Pennsylvania, New Haven and New York Central rose to new highs on the movement. Oils were untroubled by a 7-point decline in the oil market, but later improved when the latter issue rallied. Special issues like Park and Tidford, and David Cardozo and Texas Gulf also made new highs.

WILL REVISE PENSION LAW FOR TEACHERS

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 18.—When the Orange county teacher of tomorrow reaches the age of 65, it will no longer mean "Over the hill to the poorhouse."

Instead, she will be retired by the state of California at a monthly salary of $75 for the rest of her life, provided she has taught for at least 30 years.

California's teachers' retirement law is slated to undergo important changes at the hands of the 1929 legislature, and these are some of the alterations to be recommended by the Public School Teachers' Retirement Salary Commission.

"At present the retirement salary is $500 per year, which would be raised to a flat rate of $900 per year, applying to all classes of teachers," says A. R. Heron, chairman of the commission.

"Minimum service would be changed from 25 to 30 years, but to obtain the full salary no teacher may retire before reaching 65. A sliding scale of teachers' payments into the retirement fund will vary according to the age at which the teacher starts teaching."

Teachers pay $12 a year for 30 years, under the present law, to receive a $500 annual retirement salary for life. In addition, the state contributes 5 per cent of its inheritance tax collections, which about equals the amount paid by the teachers.

Under the proposed plan, Heron explained, each teacher pays until reaching the age of 60. Then she either receives a reduced salary of $684 yearly by retiring at once, or receives the full $900 by teaching five years longer.

The sliding scale as tentatively worked out would require teachers entering the profession at 20 years of age to pay $39 yearly; at 30 years, $66; at 40 years, $124, and at 50 years, $310.

"This plan is predicated on the assumption that the state would continue sharing in support of the fund," said Heron. "Because of a surplus now existing from the teacher salary allotments to counties, the state share could be financed without raising taxes or reducing present salaries of teachers."

At present 1296 California teachers are receiving retirement salaries, a gain of 114 over the number a year ago.

A. A. U. REFUSES TO GIVE BARNES RECORD

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The national outdoor track and field championships of the Amateur Athletic union for 1929 will be held at the stadium of the University of Denver, probably on July 4, 5 and 6, it was announced on the eve of the opening of the A. A. U. convention here today. Denver was the only city to put in a bid for the event.

The indoor championships will be held at Madison Square Garden here late in February or early in March, it was announced.

The solons ruled that the mark of 14 feet, 1 1/2 inches made by Lee Barnes in the pole vault last spring in California would not go on the record books. Five-inch pegs were used to hold the crossbar in place when the standard is three inches.

BILL SUGGESTS REORGANIZING STATE POLICE

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 19.

(UP)—Orange county traffic squad will become part of a great statewide police system, controlled and directed from Sacramento, if a measure to be presented to the 1929 legislature is adopted.

Never again will a William Edward Hickman be able to travel from one end of the state to the other without molestation, and finally escape from its borders, if this plan is successful, according to Colonel Frank G. Snook, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

Under the new system of organization, the division of motor vehicles and the state bureau of criminal identification will work hand-in-hand. They will designate certain key cities of the state as "mantraps" and the main arteries of travel at these points will be guarded in case of another statewide hunt.

From virtually every county in California favorable sentiment is being reported, according to Snook.

The present system permits the state traffic force to be divided into county squads, who, through a doubtful contract arrangement, work under direction of the state division of motor vehicles. Although traffic officers are selected by boards of supervisors, their appointments must be confirmed by the state division.

Difficulties have frequently developed as a result of this two-headed administrative system. Traffic officers shouldn't have to depend upon two sources for their orders, it is pointed out, nor should their authority be confined exclusively to their own counties.

"It is plainly ridiculous," says Snook, "that an officer should chase a traffic violator to the county line and then be compelled to lose him because his jurisdiction ceases at that line."

If the new law is adopted, a traffic cop will have full power, whether he be in Yreka, Fresno or San Diego. He will be appointed by the state and receive orders from the state, although the county will still be used as a base of operations.

HOCKEY DRAWS CROWDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Hockey is in for a big year in New York. A capacity crowd of 16,000 saw the Rangers and the Americans in the city's two representatives in the National Hockey league, battle to a 1 to 1 overtime tie at Madison Square Garden last night in the opening game of the local season, and many late-comers were turned away.

EVENING SALUTATION

O world, I cannot hold thee close enough!
Thy winds, thy wide grey skies!
Thy mists, that roll and rise!
Thy woods, this autumn day, that ache and sag
And all but cry with colour! That gaunt crag
To crush! To lift the lean of that black bluff!
World, World, I cannot get thee close enough.
—Edna St. Vincent Millay.

COMMUNITY CHEST USING WISEST METHODS

The Community Chest method of raising funds for the social agencies and charitable institutions of the city is the most businesslike and sensible method that can possibly be devised to furnish support for these institutions.

In the first place, it saves, as is often emphasized, the many campaigns carried on by the various institutions. And because of the limitations of these institutions, being unable to reach the whole city, it means that greater pressure is put upon the few in the city who can be easily reached and to whom nearly all of the agencies appeal.

There is another reason which we would like to emphasize—that is that the money which is contributed by the people goes directly to the work and every dollar of it, save the small amount necessary for collections and expense, which is not over four or five per cent, goes to the work for which it is contributed. It is the method of collection that insures that the largest proportion of the dollar contributed goes directly to the cause for which it was contributed. This is true, of course, of the manner in which church organizations raise their funds. A very small percentage of it is necessary for collection. The money contributed goes directly to the objects desired.

But in many other organizations the plans which they use to raise so-called benefit money necessitates a large amount of waste before the money reaches its object. When lectures and plays and concerts and balls and card parties and all those and other things are used under the guise of raising funds for some cause, the amount that must be paid, out of the amount of the money received, for the service of the lecture, or the orchestra, or the hall, or the musicians or what not, is such that frequently not over twenty-five cents of the dollar goes to its objective. It is the most expensive and unbusinesslike and foolish method of raising money that can possibly be devised.

Since we are interested in these causes which the Community Chest represents let us give or subscribe our money to the Community Chest solicitor for it is the most efficient method of caring for these organizations which has yet been devised. It is a triumph over the system of raising money by concerts, and dances and card parties where seventy-five cents of our dollar goes to defray expenses of and twenty-five cents to the cause.

We have noticed it in branches of women's organizations where a supper is provided for raising the funds. We have known of food being furnished and paid for by the donors and they have seen it sold at the sales for one-third of its actual cost. And they have bought it back, in some cases, for this amount or other people have purchased it for this amount. Look at the lost motion. The donor has her time consumed and her money consumed. The cause for which she does it receives a third of the actual money cost that the woman has put into it. The merchant in the city fails to sell his goods and the cause itself gets, maybe, a fourth or a third of what it would have gotten if the woman had donated her money directly to the cause and contributed what she had paid for the ingredients that went into the food. She would have saved her time. The cause would have had three times the money. The merchant would have sold his goods. The only one who gains, under the present conditions, is the one who receives the food for one-third its cost. Of course, if the object is to run a food dispensary, this may be a wise method. But we doubt it.

When we have obligations to meet, the best way to meet them is to meet them face on. If we paid all of our bills each month in the method that some of us try to meet our obligations for charitable purposes, it would cost us three times what it does and we would all be bankrupt.

The Community Chest does wisely. Every dollar goes to the Chest.

DR. GEORGE T. HARDING

Doctor George T. Harding, father of the late President Warren G. Harding, passed away in our city today. Dr. Harding has become quite well known in Santa Ana as he attended a number of functions and was a guest at the G. A. R. and of the Sons of Veterans on several occasions. He seemed to be in good health and considering his age, quite virile until very recent months. His mind was active and he was always interested in talking about the past and his son Warren, the late president. He had shown some traits that were so marked in his distinguished son. He was always genial and friendly and took a real interest in all public questions. He had an interesting career.

He was the great grandson of a former governor of Massachusetts. His course was quite similar to that of his son in that after a certain amount of education which he received in district school and Iberia college he taught school at Mt. Gilad, Ohio. Following this he pursued his education further until the war broke out when he enlisted in the 96th Ohio Volunteers. After being mustered out of the army due to sickness, he was married and again re-entered the army. Following his army career, he studied medicine and received a diploma to practice and for many, many years practiced medicine in Marion, Ohio, occupying as his office the same building in which his son was conducting the Marion Star.

He undoubtedly aided his son through giving him elements of a sound body and mind and that sane, cheerful outlook on life which carried him on to his remarkable success. Doctor Harding possibly would not be considered, himself, a great man, but he had those fine qualities of loyalty, thrift and service which are so needed in the men who bear the daily burdens of the community and who must be faithful to their friends, neighbors and citizens. This was Doctor Harding.

WILLIAM A. HUFF

A good man, a good citizen, a good friend—these are words that were used scores of times today as the news went from store to store and from home to home that W. A. Huff was dead.

Words, to be sure, are but a faint expression of the deep feeling of regret and sorrow that went with them. Mr. Huff was indeed a man whose passing brings real sorrow to the whole community and to the whole county. We look back upon the long life that Mr. Huff lived in this city, and each of us views that life in the light of his contacts with Mr. Huff. Some of us knew him best as a merchant, others as a property owner, others as a banker, others as a lodge brother, others as a close friend and advisor. However, we contemplate his life among us, we find that in every capacity Mr. Huff was every inch a man. As a merchant, he was always thoroughly honorable, honest, straightforward and businesslike. And those same attributes of character characterized his dealings in the wide interests he had as a business man, property owner, landlord and banker.

Quietly friendly with those he met casually, Mr. Huff's unassuming friendliness drew a wide circle of residents of this city to him, and those who knew him best had always for him a warmth of affection that was abiding.

Few men, if any, have shown a greater faith in the city he loved than was shown by Mr. Huff. For him, Santa Ana represented the best investment in the world, and his faith was indeed justified. He believed in substantial things; he believed in substantial building, as a matter of business policy and civic pride, and all along Fourth street and Broadway today we see material evidences of that belief; we see evidences of his civic pride and business foresight.

To those who were nearest and dearest to Mr. Huff, and therefore loved him most and are struck hardest by his loss, The Register extends its sincere sympathy. Their loss, we know, is indeed great; in their sorrow, they are joined by the entire community.

Good Roads Progress Is Forecast

Pasadena Star-News

The friendship and practical aid of Herbert Hoover, as President, for the cause of good roads throughout the United States, is expected to have very beneficial constructive effect in fostering the construction of permanently-improved highways during the next four years. In his last speech of the national campaign, at St. Louis, Mr. Hoover pledged his support to the cause of good roads. This has led improved-roads enthusiasts to predict that the federal-aid appropriation of $33,000,000 may be increased greatly—perhaps doubled.

The individual states are manifesting active interest in the movement to bring about permanent betterment of a greatly-increased mileage of highways. It is noteworthy that, in the recent election, highway bond issues totaling $240,000,000 were ratified in four states as follows: Iowa, $100,000,000; Missouri, $75,000,000; West Virginia, $35,000,000; Louisiana, $30,000,000.

The gospel of good roads is being proclaimed throughout the land and is being heard and heeded with eagerness. The practical value of permanently-improved highways and streets is so well demonstrated that voters need very little persuasion to vote improvement bonds. The whole country is being connected with a vast network of durably-bettered roads. Localities which are without good roads are considered away behind the times.

Such Persistence Deserves Reward

Sacramento Bee

Bob White Lanier, 20-year-old colored boy, wants to be the first of his race at the South Pole, and every one who appreciates courage and persistence in pursuing an ideal should wish him luck. Lanier stowed away on Commander Byrd's ship, the City of New York, when she sailed for the south. He was discovered and, according to his story, permitted to sign up as a mess boy for the duration of the voyage. But at Panama the officers got a report that Lanier had once served a term in jail, so they sent him back to New York.

The other day Lanier arrived in San Francisco, having hiked most of the way across the continent, and carrying proofs of his good character. All he wants now is transportation to New Zealand, where the Byrd expedition is based. He is confident Byrd will take him on again if he can reach New Zealand before the expedition leaves for the pole.

Some men with more money than he needs ought to give Lanier his chance. A boy who wants to go to the South Pole badly enough to hike across the United States on the strength of a bare possibility certainly deserves a kindly boost along his way. And such a boy, would be pretty sure to prove an asset to any expedition.

Election and Growth

Oakland Tribune

The old story, that of the need for a national reapportionment, is emphasized again by election figures. Texas, going Republican, gave Herbert Hoover twenty electoral votes; California, doing the same, added but 13 electoral votes.

If one goes back to the 1920 census, he will find Texas listed as a state with a population of 4,933,228 while California, at that time, had 3,426,861. A reapportionment, coming before the 1930 census, would be based on those figures and, even so the difference in representation should not be so large.

Today's estimate is that California has a population as large as Texas. The growth here, since 1920, is set at 67 per cent and the total, according to California Development Board estimate is 5,500,000.

Obviously, estimates do not count when it comes to mapping Congressional districts, but to show that they are in line with the facts the election may be referred to again. For Smith and Hoover, Texas cast 719,483 votes, while California, for the two, cast 1,763,364. This state cast more than twice as many votes as Texas and supplied seven less electoral votes.

Technicality

San Diego Union

Six murderers may win a new chance to escape the final penalty, according to yesterday's news, because a stenographer made a mistake in typing the transcript of their trial. A prospective juror had answered, "No," to a question. The court reporter set down, "No," in his notes. The stenographer made a mistake and wrote, "Yes." The error had nothing whatever to do with the fairness of the trial. To all intents and purposes it might have been made a week after the trial ended. But it was a mistake in the transcript, and learned legal authorities were debating last night as to whether it might not constitute an error sufficient to make a new trial mandatory.

Some day we shall have a killer acquitted because the prosecuting attorney wrote spats.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

BACK TO ROBIN HOOD
In England the annual deer hunt with bows and arrows has just taken place.

I'm aware that the late Mr. Hood
Was handy and deft with the bow
When he roved through the merrie green wood
In quest of the buck and the doe
With a stout leather cord and the bough of the yew
And a seasoned and well feathered arrow
And an aim that long practice had rendered quite true
He could pierce any brute to the marrow.

But if rifles were known at the time,
Mr. Hood hunted roebuck by day
And indulged in occasional crime
By night on the open highway,
He'd have chosen that weapon instead of the bow
For simply by pulling a trigger
He'd have laid many more luckless venison low
And his loot would have been rather bigger.

There are many good people who hold
As the news of the day will attest
That the manners and methods of old
Must always be counted the best.
And so with the bow they still fare through the wood
Leaving modern explosives unheeded
And employing the ways of the late Mr. Hood
Which they say are the only ways needed.

But when burglars drop in of a night
Only people a little bit daft
Would endeavor to put them to flight
With a bow and a feather tipped shaft.
And though not a gambler, I'll cheerfully bet
All the folks in this world back to Adam
Would have used the best arms they could possibly get Even good modern arms—if they'd had 'em.

THE BROKEN ENGAGEMENT

It is better to break an engagement, also easier, than it is to break a marriage.

In the days of our grandmothers breaking an engagement was a serious, even a scandalous, thing.

If, however, a girl has found out during her engagement that a man is impossible or if a man has found out that to live with a girl would be a lifelong mistake, it is much better to call the engagement off than to get your neck in a noose simply because you are too proud to extricate yourself.

Probably people will gossip and chatter if the girl jilts the fellow, or vice versa, but there will be a great deal more rumormongering about a divorce.

Many a man and woman have condemned themselves to life-long torture simply because they did not have the courage to get out of an embarrassing situation before marriage had actually tied them.

An item in the press recently stated that there were fifteen hundred engagements broken off in London alone in one year. One way of looking at it is that it seems strange that so many people should have been so ignorant of their affections or their knowledge of each other before they agreed to marry, but another view is that it is tantamount to so many divorces being forestalled or so many misalliances being avoided.

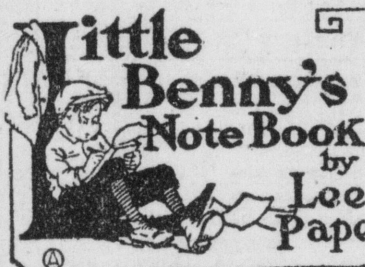

It is hard luck to have a break, a disillusionment. But it is better that the catastrophe should occur before marriage than after.

Of course love is an essential of successful marriage, but it is not the only essential; there should be friendship and similarity of tastes. The lack of these things is often discovered only during the engagement.

A prime requisite for a successful marriage is that one should choose a friend rather than a lover. Love is apt to disappear or at least weaken after the first explosion, but friendship endures.

Divorce is undoubtedly an evil, and there are many schemes for remedying it, but about the best scheme is to use all the common sense and judgment you have before marriage. Getting married is too serious a business to be undertaken unless you are certain it is a sure thing.

A NEW PROFESSION

Yesterday a bewildered young man came into my office to discuss the problem of his choice of a career.

His scholarship is brilliant. His capacity for clear and effective expression approaches genius. But he is at sea. His genius for making intelligence intelligible, his delight in making the profound popular, his hatred of the conventional kind of scholarship that so often seems deep when it is only muddy, his belief that one of the most needed things of our time is a scholarship that talks in a language ordinary men can understand—all make him hesitate to become a college professor.

His genius for thought turns him toward journalism.

His genius for expression turns him toward journalism.

"You are," I told him, "one of the young men who should help to blaze a trail for the new profession of scientific journalism, a profession that is still to be created."

This new profession is needed to bring to us an understanding of the revolutionary ideas that are being unearthed in the laboratories, an understanding that will, for most of us, depend upon interpreters who combine the best qualities of the sound scientist and the successful journalist.

Albert Edward Wiggam is a good example of the sort of interpreter I mean. His "New Decalogue of Science," his "Fruit of the Family Tree," his "Next Age of Man," and his just published

"Exploring Your Mind," are all excellent examples of scientific journalism. In the introduction of this last book, Mr. Wiggam discusses this needed profession of scientific journalism, and says the following to the young man who would answer its challenge:

First—"You must become thoroughly infused with the scientific spirit as the very core and meaning of your own life." That is to say, the scientific journalist must be dominated by the same devotion to truth, hatred of dogma, fearlessness in challenging tradition, and endless passion for knowledge that mark the scientist.

Second—"You must become quite thoroughly and technically acquainted with some one field of science; you must learn scientific methods as well as imbibe the scientific spirit." Unless the scientific journalist is himself something of a scientist, he will not be able to tell the difference between real science and pseudo-science.

Third—"You must learn the art and technique of journalistic presentation." The scientific journalist cannot make science articulate if he apes the vocabulary of the scientists themselves. He must not prostitute science by jarring it; but he must make it popular in a legitimate sense.

Fourth—"You must see your problem in two aspects—first, as a problem of science, and second, as a problem of art."

Here, I think, is the Magna Charta for a new profession. Copyright 1928 McClure Newspr. Syn.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

BREAD AND BUTTER STUDIES

"But I don't want my children to take bread and butter studies. I want them to have a cultural education. Why should my son go to the shop? Or my daughter go to the kitchen? I don't want them to earn their living that way. Surely they can be fitted for some profession?"

Surely. If they have the mental and physical and social equipment for any special field there is no reason under the sun why they should not be fitted for it. But isn't a professional life one that calls for hard work and does not that hard work provide bread and butter? If it does not, then that profession is a failure for that particular worker.

All of us must work. That is the one great privilege of this life for which we should be most grateful. There is no real place in this world for the person who cannot and does not support himself in some way, either inside or outside of the home. Each of us must be useful if life is to be bearable. Why is not culture possible to one who works outside the professions? Why is it thought to be rather degrading to one's social position to be known as a worker in a trade? Or to earn money by the arts, music and poetry and sculpture? Why is it not dignified to earn one's living even under culture's sway?

It is. It has been done. Henry W. Longfellow was a poet and a teacher, and earned his living. James Russell Lowell was a poet and a scholar and a statesman and earned money in all three capacities. Surely there is culture and skill and earning power and social standing. It is not then the work one does, but the quality of it.

Then send the children to school with the idea of discovering the special gift each holds. Set the teaching to bring out the highest possible development of those gifts whether they are of the highest order as the world views them or of the lowest. Teach the children that their work has a market value and the higher the money reward they can capture the better for them so long as they live up to the highest ideal they can grasp.

There are people who still think that a clergyman ought to live without money, that a doctor ought never to collect his fees; that the dentist ought to take his pay out of the rich feeling of service that floods his soul when he removes an aching tooth. They really do.

But that same person will walk a mile to see a movie star who draws a fabulous salary—not because this star is a great professional, but because he draws a great salary.

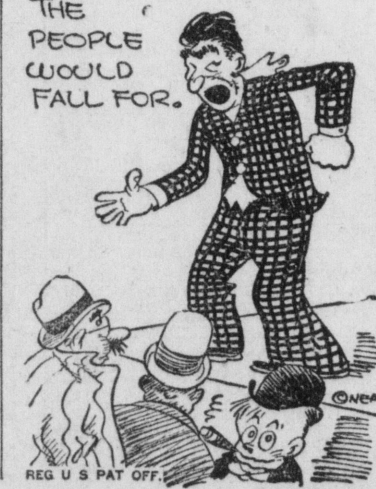

Let's be clear on this point. All work, whether in shop or laboratory studio or office, factory or barn, afloat on the high seas or deep in the mines—all work that is worth while is bread and butter work. It is not a badge of disgrace to earn and collect a big salary. It is a mark of efficiency bestowed by a hard headed, hard fisted world. Tell the children the truth about it. Fit them to hold the highest and best paid place they can attain by means of their gifts developed to their highest power.

Yes, I know. There is work no money can buy. Bearing children, saving life, supreme service is beyond price. But that is no excuse for not paying the material price for it. And supreme service may well be left out of the discussion on training for everyday living. Give the children a bread and butter training first. The rest will take care of itself.
